Red China Closing U.N. Gap

Next Vote Could Result in Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The 47-47 split in the General Assembly on seating Red China plus waning support for U. S. demands that a two-thirds vote decide the issue, aroused speculation today that Peking cannot be barred much longer.

See Maneuver Key

Supporters of the U. S. campaign to keep Red China out of the United Nations admitted privately that they may have scored their last annual victory. Many diplomats believed the fact that the 117-nation assembly approved the call for a two-thirds majority by a margin of only 7 votes was more significant than the dramatic split over admitting Peking.

The procedural maneuver was approved 56-47 with 11 abstentions, a majority of 20 less than the last vote on the same question four years ago.

The consensus was that if Peking's supporters break the majority barrier next year, they can rally enough support to admit Red China on a straight vote.

Diplomats noted that if Indonesia had not quit the United Nations last March, Peking may have had the single vote needed to score a simple majority this time.

It was believed that Red China's backers could pick up a number of votes if they did not insist on coupling their call for admission of Peking with demands to oust Nationalist China.

Firm on Formosa

Ceylon tried before Wednesday's vote to delete the ouster demand, but the sponsors refused. Peking has said it will not consider U.N. membership unless the Nationalists are thrown out.

For the first time, the United States found itself the only big power opposing Red China. France switched allegiance after establishing diplomatic relations with Mao Tse-tung's regime last year. Britain supported the two-thirds demand, but voted to seat Red China which it has recognized since 1950.

Five Planes Destroyed

Elsewhere, in South Viet Nam, Viet Cong battalions destroyed five U.S. spotter planes and inflicted moderate casualties on Vietnamese Rangers defending the Tan Hiep airfield 35 miles southwest of Saigon. A U.S. adviser said 28 Viet Cong bodies were found. There were no American casualties.

The North Vietnamese in the Ia Drang Valley lay in the underbrush and hid in trees to ambush a battalion from the U. S. 1st Cavalry. A relief force reached the scene at nightfall, and fighting was heavy during the night.

Dozens of wounded were flown to Pleiku, 35 miles to the west. (Continued on Page 41, Col. 6)

Begin Grand Jury Probe Of Jail 'Leak' Charge

A grand jury investigation was under way to ascertain whether there had been a "leak" in the conduct of the April grand jury business which permitted William A. Krum, unsuccessful Republican candidate for sheriff, to use for campaign purposes facts which were later reported as recommendations by the grand jury.

Looking Into Report 'Leak'

Specifically the investigation will be into whether or not a "leak" of the impending report by the grand jury to the court, had permitted Krum to advocate use of county property in New Paltz as an auxiliary jail, prior to the grand jury report being released.

Broadcast over a local radio station was a charge that there had possibly been a "leak" of the grand jury's intention to recommend that the overcrowded condition at the county jail could be relieved through construction of additional jail facilities at New Paltz.

The statement by Krum that he would seek additional jail facilities at New Paltz for certain type prisoners, was made several days before election and just prior to the release by the April grand jury of recommendations along the same line.

All Matters Secret

All matters pertaining to grand jury action is secret until such time as the grand jury makes its report to the court.

Several Subpoenaed

Among those subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury at 11 a. m. today were Harry M. Thayer, managing director of station WGHQ over which the editorial comment of a possible "leak" was broadcast, William A. Krum, members of the April grand jury, employees of the district attorney's office and all assistant district attorneys. It was expected they would testify before the grand jury under waivers of immunity.

The grand jury, after a partial report to Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, some time ago, had been instructed at that time of an adjournment until 11 a. m. today.

For several years overcrowded conditions at the Ulster County jail have been reported by past grand juries. Recommendations that a third unfinished tier in the jail be fitted with cells and suggestions have also been made a new and larger jail be constructed. The State Department of Correction has long criticized the local jail facilities as insufficient to properly class prisoners, and has so reported in numerous reports.

The overcrowded condition at the jail has been reported several times in reports by Sheriff Claude Bell to the Board of Supervisors.

It was electronics executive Edward C. Haake of Seabrook, Tex., who actually got the jump on the youth from Brownsville. (Continued on Page 41, Col. 4)

Seven Stolen Autos Involved

A third youth charged with being involved in a Tuesday night-early Wednesday morning round of car thefts was apprehended and sentenced Wednesday afternoon to 18 months at Otisville Training School for Boys, Orange County, and local police expect to deal with a fourth said to be involved.

Included 100-MPH Chase

As it finally turned out Wednesday, seven stolen cars were reported accounted for between Monday night and yesterday morning, including that which resulted in the police chase through city streets at speeds above 100 miles an hour, and which finally brought the arrest of a 12-year-old juvenile and Donald Sagar, 16, of 177 Green Street.

The two were chased by Detective Gurnsey Burger and Officer John Crespin, who had fired several shots, and were caught after the stolen car, owned by George Svirsky, of the United Cut Rate Pharmacy, went off the road at the Route 587 traffic circle Tuesday night.

The car had been stolen from the Senate House parking lot between Fair Street and Clinton Avenue.

Going to Grand Jury

Attorney George A. Beck appeared in city court today with Sagar, who was booked on 11 charges including first degree grand larceny. Preliminary hearing of the latter was waived and it is to go to a grand jury. Hearing of the traffic charges was set down for Dec. 2.

Sagar was charged with having driven through four traffic signals and two stop-signs during the chase. He is also charged with lacking a driver's license, speeding and reckless driving.

The 12-year-old juvenile is to be dealt with in family court.

The 15-year-old juvenile was apprehended Wednesday by Detective Gurnsey Burger and charged with involvement in the (Continued on Page 41, Col. 3)

State Approves County Building Shelter Plans

Approval of the plans and specification for the alternate seat of government shelter to be constructed adjacent to the new County Office building at Main and Fair Streets, has been granted by the New York State Civil Defense Commission. Federal approval is now pending.

Approval of the plans and specifications prepared by Augustus R. Schrowang Associates, Kingston architects, were given approval by the board of supervisors and bids have already been received for construction of the shelter.

Approval by the state was announced today by Abram F. Molyneux (R), Woodstock, chairman of the Civil Defense committee of the board.

Notice of the state approval was made public today by Albert T. Jones, director of Public Works, New York State Civil Defense Commission, who notified local officials that the plans for the emergency operating center had met with state approval, except that the fuel tank for auxiliary power be increased (Continued on Page 41, Col. 4)

Awaits Federal Grant

Meanwhile, the college was awaiting approval of a Federal grant of $829,000 from the U. S. Commission of Education, which appeared to be assured for assistance in the campus construction program. Supervisor Roy Webber (R-Marbletown), chairman of the Board of Supervisors' College Committee, said at Tuesday's Board meeting that application for the grant was pending. #### 4 Youths Seized Near Baltimore, In Route 9 Chase

The driver and three occupants of a stolen car, who tried to run down a Rhinebeck State trooper after a chase on Tuesday, have been taken into custody near Baltimore, Md., and are being held for questioning by New York State Police.

A police officer at Pikesville, Md., on Wednesday spotted a damaged car and recognized the registration plate as belonging to a vehicle reportedly stolen in Boston, Mass., and subsequently involved in the Dutchess County incident.

A radio call to police headquarters brought two other squad cars to the scene and a short chase followed. The youths, identified as juveniles, were taken into custody.

Authorities said the oldest of the four is 16. The driver of the car was reported to be 15, and the other two 14 years of age. According to reports from Howard County (Maryland) inspection of the car in which the four were riding showed several bullet holes in the back and sides.

The bullets were fired at the car by Trooper Edward Streiter of the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park station and Poughkeepsie police as they pursued the stolen car after the driver attempted to run down Streiter as he

1st Phase Approved By Albany

Could Start Week Following Awards

Advertising for bids for the first phase of construction of the Ulster County Community College campus at Stone Ridge was scheduled for Friday according to an announcement today by college officials.

Set for 2 P. M.

The bids are to be opened at 2 p. m. Monday, Dec. 20 in the Board of Supervisors rooms at the County Office Building.

Authorization for the bids, which clears the way for construction of the long-awaited campus, came on the heels of approval of building plans and specifications Wednesday by the Community College Facilities Planning Division of the State University of New York. Ellis M. Rowlands, Facilities Planning director, announced approval for the first phase of the local campus construction immediately following approval Tuesday night by the Board of Supervisors.

Augustus Schrowang Associates, architects for the college project, said that actual construction on the campus could be started within 30 days after awarding of the bids.

Board Approval by 32-1

Plans and specifications for the first four buildings at the Stone Ridge campus site were approved by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday night by a vote of 32-1. Supervisor George Majestic (D-Gardiner), cast the lone dissenting vote on the basis of his disapproval of electric heat for the college.

Edward A. Feeney, chairman of the college's Site and Facilities Committee, told The Freeman that actual construction of the campus could begin about a week after awarding of the contract. He said that his committee would have to study and analyze the bids with Chairman Charles Relyea (R-Hurley) and his Board of Supervisors Building Committee before the bid contract was awarded.

The Board of Supervisors, in their resolution for approval of the construction plans and specifications, stipulated that the Building Committee be authorized to advertise for bids as soon as final approval was received.

Island Man Is County's 46th Victim of '65

A 35-year-old Levittown man, who was fatally injured at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday in a traffic accident on Claryville Road, Town of Denning, became Ulster County's 46th highway fatality of 1965.

Cause Not Listed

Ferndale State Police said James P. Menendez, 35, of 40 Tanners Lane, Levittown, was pronounced dead on arrival at Liberty Maimonides Hospital, Liberty. The cause of death was not immediately determined.

The fatality was the third in Ulster County within a week and the sixth for November. Two persons were killed in county highway mishaps last week-end, and three died of injuries sustained in motor vehicle accidents on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Leaves Road, Flips

Ferndale troopers reported Menendez was driving his 1964 car north on Claryville Road through a heavy fog, when the vehicle failed to negotiate a sharp left curve, left the highway and overturned down a 5 1/2-foot embankment, coming to rest on its wheels.

Troopers S. A. Hurbaneck and D. J. Irwin of Ferndale investigated the Wednesday fatality.

U.S. Is Moving To Nip Copper, Hikes, Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to release at least 200,000 tons of copper from its stockpile. It says the aim is to nip the climb in copper prices and ease a world shortage of the metal.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the decision Wednesday night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

The announcement came one week after similar government proposals had forced a price rollback in the aluminum industry.

There was no immediate comment from major copper companies as to whether they would follow the aluminum pattern and cut back prices.

Most U. S. copper producers increased their prices 2 cents a pound — from 36 cents to 38 cents — during the early stages (Continued on Page 41, Col. 5)

On Sept. 22 a proposed bond issue for the building projects was defeated by 827-640.

Retaining the engineering consulting firm of Stone and Webster to start immediately on an exhaustive analysis of the circumstances surrounding the Nov. 9 interruption of electric service in most of the Northeast United States and parts of Canada.

These studies will be aimed at disclosing any changes that would be in order to guard against a recurrence of Tuesday's blackout and in determining any long-range modifications in interconnection policy and operations.

The utility also will continue to participate with other utilities and government power agencies in further studies of this situation directed by the Federal Power Commission and by the Public Service Commission of New York State.

In the meantime, Central Hudson has taken steps to improve its operations in areas not dependent upon further analysis and study.

To insure communications between the South Road System Operators' Office and Danskammer Point Steam Station, an emergency radio, which will operate on the assigned frequency of the company's mobile radio system, has been installed in the control room at Danskammer.

In addition, to provide direct telephone communication without dialing, a leased line has been installed directly connecting the System Operators' Office and the Danskammer control room.

These new facilities are in addition to an existing line between the two control centers through a leased dial telephone network.

An application has been made to the Federal Communications Commission for assignment of two additional radio frequencies, one of which would be reserved for communications between generating stations and the System Operators' Office.

Also, the company is setting up procedures to expedite the conversion of existing circuits between Danskammer and two Central Hudson hydroelectric plants to express circuits to permit one or both of these plants to be started to furnish startup (Continued on Page 41, Col. 7)

Architects Given Go-Ahead After RVCS Acceptance

Architects have been authorized to proceed with working plans for a middle school for grades five through eight on the present site of the Rondout Valley Central School, and for additions to the high school and Rosendale Elementary School.

Authorization was given to the firm of Ketcham, Miller and Arnold, Syracuse architects, after voters of the Rondout Central School system on Wednesday approved a $3,183,000 proposition for the building program.

Pool Is Rejected

Another proposal, which called for substitution of the gym area for a pool at a cost of $67,000, was rejected by district voters yesterday.

School Superintendent Edward T. Green today praised The Kingston Daily Freeman for articles published about the school district's needs prior to the election yesterday. Commenting on the outcome of the election, Green said, "We are very pleased with the results. It is very important to the boys and girls of the school district, and it is a victory for the children."

The $3,183,000 proposition for the building program was approved by a vote of 1,021-844, with 11 ballots voided. The total vote was 1,876. The pool proposal was rejected by a vote of 1,129-733, with 16 ballots voided. The total vote on the pool proposition was 1,878.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

For those who have transistor radios that require more than one battery.

If the transistor conks out, don't throw away all three or four batteries.

Needless! Sometimes one can tell which battery is bad, because you can see corrosion on it. Just discard the corroded battery (or batteries) and replace it with a new one.

Do you know that over half the time, the batteries which are left in the transistor will work for months?

'Tis true. I sell radios and always tell my customer this.

Absolutely true! I tried it on mine and saved the price of two batteries.

And, Mr. T. S., the reason we kept your letter so long was that we had to wait until one of our batteries went dead to try it. (Though we did call some radio men, who said you were right.)

This also works in small tape recorders that run on batteries.

Thanks a million for tipping us off.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This really works for ladies who like to hang out their dish towels for bleaching.

To keep them from wrapping over the clothes line in the breeze, snap a clothes pin to each bottom corner, and the towels will stay in nice shape and not blow over the lines.

Mrs. Robert Newton

Dear Heloise:

Instead of throwing away a flannel-backed, plastic tablecloth, cut it down to make shampoo and make-up covers, and bibs.

One round flannel-back cloth will make one large shampoo cape. Just cut out the center and cut down one side, put snaps on it, and you have it made.

I've taken a lot of these covers to work and distributed them to bed patients at the hospital. I can wash their hair and never get the patients wet. (I have the girls I work with save the old tablecloths for me.)

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN:

Dear Folks:

For those of you who eat gravy like we do, have you ever tried using leftover coffee instead of milk or water?

If not, why not? It's really great. It sure changes the taste of the usual old gravy.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When my baby has diaper rash, I have found that disposable diapers are a wonderful help in curing it.

Since these disposable diapers are lined on the outside with a wet-proof type of material, no rubber pants are necessary, and the air is allowed to circulate under the diaper, thus helping to cure the rash.

This factor also saves mother much valuable time in laundering so many more bed linens and pads. Also keeps baby from getting wet all over.

The disposable diapers are just as absorbent as the regular diapers, and if used only for such emergencies, and for traveling, are not too expensive.

Mrs. Louise King

Dear Heloise:

When using carbon paper, I find rubbing alcohol to be much better (and cheaper) for removing the carbon stains, than the soap manufactured for that purpose.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The state government has put the brakes to Rio's mushrooming taxi population. With 18,000 taxis jockeying for fares on Rio's crowded streets, Gov. ## Angola Trade Increase LUANDA, Angola (AP)—Angola's trade showed a balance of $17.3 million for the first five months of this year. This was over nearly $2 million more than the previous year. Coffee counted for the largest contribution among exports with 12,844 tons valued at $6.4 million.

Young Driver Booked On Disorderly Count

A 19-year-old Highland youth was arrested Wednesday night by Trooper G. W. Zappale on a charge of disorderly conduct after he became disorderly when given a citation for a parking violation.

Trooper Daniel Devine of the Highland substation reported Trooper Zappale was issuing a summons to Anthony Joseph Jeffrey Jr., of 19 Church Street, Highland, for improper parking, when the youth, according to Devine, used profanity and Trooper Zappale arrested him for disorderly conduct.

HUNTING TRAGEDIES

A story from Italy about two hunting accidents is tragic, yet does have its comic overtones. It seems that Mrs. Giulia Oddicini fired at a pheasant but hit her husband, whereas three years ago he accidentally shot her. One concludes that they'd better take Fate's little hints and not go hunting together anymore.

The stories coming out of the U.S. woods this deer season are anything but comical, however. For the most part they are grim recitals of tragedy. In one state, for example, a hunter died because a companion mistook his white shirt for a deer's tail. Another hunter fatally shot himself while examining his gun sight. These incidents illustrate the least amusing thing of all about the hunting deaths — the fact that most of them need never have happened, had sensible care been taken.

A DISTANT PROSPECT

Before John Lindsay became mayor-elect of New York, it was widely predicted that victory or near-victory in this election would at once make him a leading potential contender for the Republican presidential nomination. Though Lindsay's behavior has not exactly played hob with that notion, he has at the very least pushed the timing back somewhat.

Apparently the young former congressman is determined to serve two terms as mayor of the nation's largest city before aspiring to any office beyond that. He has served notice that he will be too busy at his mayoral duties to campaign for fellow Republicans, including Governor Rockefeller should the latter seek re-election. And Lindsay also has made it clear that most of his appointees will be Democrats — a plain recognition of the fact that the city is predominantly Democratic, and that he must take this into account if he expects to have a second term.

This approach augurs well for New Yorkers, who thus have the promise that a liberal young mayor will devote full time to the manifold tasks of running their huge and complex city. If Lindsay sticks with his present attitude, however, he is not going to be a 1968 nomination prospect. No man, least of all a young man not yet well known nationally, gets a major party nomination without pushing for it or at least permitting his followers to do so.

There is another point: Lindsay's aloofness from the GOP during his campaign and his strongly liberal outlook have not endeared him to still-powerful conservative elements in the party. That, too, argues against his chances for early nomination. But considering the trend toward liberalism, after a couple of terms as New York mayor Lindsay may be in a solid position to bid a crack at the presidency.

PHONY INDEPENDENCE

The Rhodesian government's declaration of independence from Britain has been almost universally condemned. This condemnation is fully justified. The leaders of Rhodesia have behaved irresponsibly. Their action does pose a threat to world peace and security, as the General Assembly declared by a vote of 107 to 2.

Still, it may seem a little surprising to find a move toward "independence" censured in an era when such moves have generally brought worldwide approval. It is one of the distinctive characteristics of the period since World War II that so many nations have broken away from their colonial masters and set their feet on the rocky path of self-government. In the main, the world has said "Bravo!"

Why, then, the current boos and catcalls? The answer lies in the simple fact that the white Rhodesians have not declared independence for the sake of freedom but to maintain their tyranny over the black Rhodesians who so vastly outnumber them. What the white Rhodesian minority could not stomach was the British government's insistence on machinery for ultimately placing control in the hands of the majority.

It is too early to predict with any confidence what may now happen. The vigorous action of London, coupled with pressure

FAMINES COMING UP?

Famines were once a recurrent scourge of mankind. The potato famine depopulated much of Ireland, causing three million deaths and forcing a tremendous emigration. In the eighteenth century a famine in India wiped out a third of the population of Bengal. There have been famines in Russia under both Imperial czars and Communist commissars. In the late nineteenth century two years of famine in North China killed close to ten million people.

Maybe the world has passed beyond the stage of worry about famines in the old style. There are ships to carry food in mass quantities from one part of the world to another, and there has never been a universal drought or blight. Nevertheless, anyone who puts a wet finger up to test the wind must be impressed by two ominous facts. First, the big grain surpluses of the Western world are disappearing. Second, there is no prospect that Communist countries can feed themselves as long as they stick to collective methods of farming.

The crazy thing about it is that the Iron and Bamboo Curtain part of the world has been assuming all along that the West, which it incessantly attacks, will always be ready and willing to sell grain in large amounts for money. But now the fright is on. The Czechs, having difficulty getting grain elsewhere, recently appealed to Soviet Russia for wheat. But Russia's Kossygin had to tell them that Moscow had nothing to spare — and the Communists were sufficiently shellshocked to allow this to be printed in their newspapers. Late October reports from the Soviet Union show that the planting of winter wheat for next year is far behind schedule due to "continuing wet weather and the delay in harvesting this year's crop." This is an oblique way of saying that people in the Russian countryside aren't working very hard at getting one crop in and clearing the ground for the next.

The Soviets and the Red Chinese have been buying wheat from Canada, which has been doing well in the trade. But Canada, Australia and Argentina can hardly continue to bail out the Communist countries if a real Soviet or Chinese famine develops. As for the U.S., its grain surplus is now 2.6 billion bushels, which means there isn't enough for both a world food bank and a local "ever normal granary" reserve. Complicating things is India's dependence on American wheat. A real famine in India would clean U.S. storage bins out in jig time. Meanwhile the French farmers have been burning wheat as a warning to DeGaulle that they want higher prices.

The Russians aren't likely to get their farm situation in order until they abandon most of their current agricultural policies. The whole Soviet countryside is in an acute state of degeneration and dilapidation, according to a score of items translated from the Communists' own publications by Valery Albert for the always well-informed Institute for the Study of the USSR in Munich. "I fear for the future of our collective farms," so a farm chairman writes in Komsomolskaya Pravda. "The young men who leave for the army do not return; the girls, too, vanish from the village." Another writer says, "The fields are already becoming overgrown with trees. There is no one to work, young or old."

The Communist Party's official journal, Kommunist, says: "The countryside is not only awaiting the solution to a number of economic and everyday problems; it is also in need of a thorough overhaul of its cultural base." According to Pravda, thousands of collective farms have no electricity for offices, hospitals, schools, clubs, stores, warehouses or for the farms themselves. Writing in Izvestia, M. Lensov, head of the Russian union of consumer goods societies which serves more than 50 million rural inhabitants, complains that "rural commerce is clearly being strangled." Peasants can't get shirts or shoes. And the attempt to form "agro-towns" by grouping peasants in artificially urbanized communities has turned out to be incompatible with the private garden plots and private livestock breeding which have been chief sources of Soviet food. State farm workers in a "show village" near Moscow have actually deserted their "comfortable mansions" to live in shacks made of "second-hand boards" just to be near their own plots of land. The quotations are from the publication called Molodoi Kommunist.

Following the agricultural news from both East and West, I have a queasy feeling that half the world may soon be starving while the other half won't be able to do a thing about it. No wonder Lyndon Johnson has called for a study of farm policy. (Copyright, 1965, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The DOCTOR SAYS

Some Relief Is Possible
When Joints Pain, Swell

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What causes osteoarthritis? Is there a cure for it?

A—Osteoarthritis is less severe than rheumatoid arthritis. Heredity and the aging process play a part in its cause. In women it is often associated with knobby swelling in the joints of the fingers. Although there is no medicine or any other form of treatment that will restore the affected joints to normal, aspirin and phenylbutazone will relieve the pain. If you are overweight, you are putting an unnecessary burden on your joints and reducing will improve your condition. Good posture is also important.

Avoid bumping or knocking your joints as you grow older. A great deal of relief can be obtained by applying heat in some form to the affected joints for 15 to 20 minutes once or twice daily. Moderate exercise will go far toward preventing stiffness.

Q—I have had rheumatoid arthritis for three years. My doctor recommends injections to induce fever. Would they be helpful?

A—Although artificial fever has been used in the past in the treatment of various forms of arthritis with some success, it has largely been abandoned in favor of such drugs as aspirin, phenylbutazone and a new drug — indomethacin. External heat is also helpful.

Q—What is pruritis? What causes it? Is there any cure?

A—Pruritis means itching without any visible skin lesions such as hives or mosquito bites. It may be caused by diabetes, jaundice, anemia, excessively dry skin, dandruff or even thinking about itching.

Before starting any treatment, a doctor should determine the cause of your itching. There are many preparations that will give you temporary relief but removing the cause is the only way to effect a cure.

Q—My husband has ulcers of the colon. He passes a lot of bloody mucus. The doctor says he will have it the rest of his life. Is there no remedy for this? Is there any danger of cancer?

A—The cortisone group of drugs are helpful. Recent studies indicate that sulfasalazine is also helpful. Prolonged rest and psychotherapy have improved some victims but, in the long run, the best results are achieved by removing the colon. Cancer of the colon occurs much more often in persons with ulcerative colitis than in the general population.

Washington News

Washington Correspondent

The young lady stepped out of her New York office building only minutes after the great Northeast power blackout had begun. Nearly 200 people were milling around on the nearest corner. Traffic was in a hopeless tangle.

Suddenly a man sprang from the crowd, moved into the intersection and began directing pedestrian and motor traffic.

All over the stricken city, similar acts occurred. Young men peeled off their coats so their white shirts would make them more visible as traffic directors. Even a retired visiting policeman jumped into duty.

Young interns climbed 38 floors of an office skyscraper to seek out two known students stranded there. Medical students fanned through the city, looking for emergency cases.

These are but a few of the un-numbered stories, many of them probably never to be known, which were unfolded during the long hours of blackness in New York.

WHAT THEY SEEM TO SAY is that the country's greatest city — marked by so many today as the great ungovernable jungle — somehow rediscovered its soul.

In the bewildering darkness, totally unexplained to many thousands trapped where no news could be heard, the shell of indifference was quickly shed. Strangers became helpful, comforting, joking friends. The city's smothering inhumanity vanished.

Twenty-seven years ago, on the night of Oct. 30, 1938, large numbers of people in eastern seaboard cities panicked badly when they misjudged a radio program simulating an attack on the earth by people from Mars. Americans thought they were literally under attack.

IN THIS VERY REAL BLACKOUT emergency, there was no panic. The city's police and fire services labored with amazing calm to rescue hundreds of thousands from stalled elevators, trains, escalators. The people themselves plunged into volunteer effort on a grand scale.

The young girl who emerged from her office just as the blackout descended made her way home to her tall apartment building to find a friendly cluster of tenants sitting around the lobby, listening to the radio by candlelight.

All night long a stream of people moved slowly over the East River's ancient Brooklyn bridge, like a refugee column leaving a bombed-out city. Patiently they were heading home.

Not all the stories were heartening. Cab drivers deserted the streets in droves. Some who stayed on the job gouged their customers with exorbitant charges. Merchants did the same in selling flashlights, candles and other emergency goods.

But the tide was all the other way. Suddenly jolted by the huge, impersonal mechanism that runs their city, New Yorkers found themselves.

The challenge which countless psychologists and social scientists tell us is missing from this and other American centers of affluence was miraculously thrust in front of them. They responded. In the darkness, they uncovered their best selves.

HERE IN WASHINGTON, men in the White House and the Federal Power Commission are solemnly focusing on the questions of how the blackout could happen and how another could be prevented.

But the bigger question for the White House, indeed for the whole country, is how to make the "spirit of the blackout" endure for more than the brief hours of a challenging darkness.

Those were hours of rediscovery, of humanity breaking through the hard crust of an impersonal, taken-for-granted, deadening urban society. The moment should not be lost. The challenge flung by sudden distress has somehow to be infused anew in the nation's city civilization. Let the White House add this one to its agenda.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I understand that there may be a folklore stamp out in 1966, and one may be on Johnny Appleseed, whose real name was John C. Chapman, 1775-1847. He was the United States pioneer horticulturist and established apple orchards throughout the land. Perhaps it would be appropriate to have this first day cancellation from this section of the country. The Fulton stamp was of Clermont, N. Y. although most of the work was done at the Kingston Central Post Office, as Postmaster Newkirk explained at the Kingston Stampcollector's Club meeting on November 11, 1965. Postmaster Newkirk employed some 48 extra helpers for this work. He also showed several interesting items from his own Fulton collection and one signed by the former Postmaster General Gronowski. Mr. Newkirk had been at the Clermont August 19th cancellation at Clermont where he bought several of these items.

There are many stories about Johnny Appleseed, like him taking apple seeds from coast to coast and planting them, then on the way he would stop and see that the seeds took root and were treated properly so they would grow into apple trees. I understand there are local stories on him especially in Woodstock, where they have a monument to him.

Right in our Ulster Park back in the early days, Robert L. Pell was the first man to market American apples in Europe. I read in the Gazetteer and Business Directory of Ulster County, 1871-72 that Ulster Park was once called Amesville. It contained a Reformed Church, a school house, a store, a hotel, blacksmith and wagon shop and about 60 inhabitants. Yet apples coming from there were known in Europe, so why not have a First Day apple stamp from Ulster Park.

They describe the Pelham farm, a magnificent country seat of Robert L. Pell, Esq. which contained some 1,200 acres of the choicest land in the state, overlying gravel 12 feet deep. Every lot was watered by living springs, with over 100 miles of stone underdrains, in the most substantial manner. He had 10 artificial lakes, 14 feet deep and connected by 15 light and beautiful fancy bridges, constructed on iron rods. In these lakes were 55 varieties of fish, some imported from Europe.

Mr. Pell was the first man to ship his apples to Europe, from his apple orchard of 20,000 New Town Pippin apple trees, 40

U Thant's Peace Proposal— Seen as Poor Timing for U.S.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—"So what?" This is about the only report that can be made by the United States government to the hulla-balloo over alleged failure to take seriously a hint in the autumn of 1964 by U Thant, Secretary General of the United Nations, that maybe the North Vietnamese were ready to talk peace.

The innuendo is being spread now that President Johnson didn't want to enter into any negotiations because this step would have been taken in the midst of the Presidential campaign. But who having the slightest knowledge of political currents, doesn't know that peace maneuvers—which couldn't have possibly been completed before Election Day—would have been a clever piece of political strategy?

It would have led the American people to believe that Barry Goldwater's insistence on a more vigorous war was being met by the doves of peace released by the Administration in Washington. The families of young men facing military draft in the Viet Nam war would have been relieved. It would have gotten a greater number of votes than the promise to pursue the war intensively.

There is, however, something else which reduces to the level of nonsense the outcry that Secretary Rusk just didn't want to talk peace and didn't accept U Thant's suggestions. To operate the Department of State in the middle of an international crisis requires a constant flow of information from diplomatic sources as well as Central Intelligence Agency reports from all over the world.

If Mr. Rusk had thought for an instant that a mere decision to engage in talks with North Viet Nam would bring peace, he would have gladly done so. But all available information indicated that the move would have hurt the United States and also would have won no peace.

U Thant appears to be one of those wishful thinkers in diplomacy who believes that merely talking with the enemy is a harbinger of peace. But much more is required. There must be a clear indication first that the enemy is willing to stop his aggression. America has been tricked before—as in Korea—by the concept that merely to "negotiate" means the attainment of a satisfactory settlement.

Secretary General Thant even as late as Feb. 24, 1965, said at a news conference about the Viet Nam war:

"The political and diplomatic method of discussions and negotiations alone can create conditions which will enable the United States to withdraw gracefully from that part of the world."

But what remains unanswered is the question of why North Viet Nam allegedly stood ready to make a peace settlement in the autumn of 1964 but was not ready to do so immediately after the 1964 election or at any time since.

The UN secretary general is talking now about "major concessions" that should come from both sides. But what "major" concession can the United States make? Should it leave Southeast Asia to the mercy of the Communist Chinese, who then will be encouraged to infiltrate and get control of other countries in the same region of the world which are entitled to self-determination and independence?

Perhaps the best summary of what did happen in 1964 and the Administration's reasoning at the time is given in a UPI dispatch from Washington on Wednesday of this week. It reads as follows:

"There is an old axiom in diplomacy that you're not likely to gain at the conference table anything the enemy doesn't believe you can win on the battlefield. This, according to authoritative Administration sources, sums up the reasons for the American rejection about a year ago of two Communist Viet Nam offers to meet for peace talks at Rangoon, Burma.

"President Johnson's top advisers, particularly Secretary Rusk, felt that the perilous U.S. military position in late 1964 plus the shakiness of the Saigon government then made the American negotiating position impossibly weak. Rusk argued that the Communists, knowing this, must be willing to meet only in the hope of getting a settlement which would amount to surrendering South Viet Nam to the Reds. The President agreed."

The United States now is winning in Viet Nam. Sooner or later the North Vietnamese will have to talk peace, but it will have to be on America's terms if the sacrifices of American youth in Viet Nam are not to be in vain.

There are strong grounds for a belief that Manchuria is the original home of the tiger and that it later extended its range southward. ## Santa Fe Struck By Rail Clerks

CHICAGO (AP) — The 9,000-member Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks today struck the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co. in a dispute involving demands for changes in work rules, pay scale adjustments and fringe benefit adjustments.

C. L. Dennis, union president, in addition to authorizing the strike of the union's members, telegraphed 22 other union heads asking that their organizations honor the clerks' picket lines.

The strike began at 6 a.m. CST. The railroad announced that four hours earlier it had requested the National Mediation Board to assume jurisdiction in the strike which had been threatened.

In a prepared statement, Dennis said the union seeks "a bona fide sick leave, a wage inequity adjustment fund and a broader application of the work rules agreement to cover new modes of transportation."

In Topeka, Kan., a Santa Fe spokesman said the strike involves three unresolved demands.

He listed them as: —Demand for sick pay regardless whether work is kept up by employees or whether the company finds it necessary to hire additional help to keep the work up to date. Also involved was a request to pay employees while they were attending funerals of relatives.

—A 90-cent hourly wage increase.

—A demand, also before 13 other railroads and docketed by the mediation board, for the sole right to handle piggy-back loading and unloading. At the present time this work is done by various groups, such as clerks, carmen, shippers and contractors.

May Ask Increases In Sugar Beet Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's sugar beet growers get a chance today to ask the Agriculture Department for increased 1966 crop acreage allotments. Allotments are assigned to individual growers under federal regulations designed to prevent overproduction of beets and, subsequently, lower prices.

The Agriculture Department sponsored a hearing Sept. 8 in Denver, at which grower associations suggested that 1966 allotments should range from 1,325,000 to 1,350,000 acres. Allotments for the 1965 crop totaled 1,375,000.

Since the Denver hearing, there have been indications that sugar tonnage may be somewhat less than had been expected, and as a consequence, proposals may be made today to hold the 1966 allotment to this year's level.

Pope Paul Orders Start Of Beatification for 2

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII. His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

Pope Paul made his surprise announcement in a discourse at a public ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica for the promulgation of two new decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Much Owed to Both

Speaking of the renewal of Roman Catholicism started by the council, which was first convened by Pope John, Pope Paul said his two predecessors should be piously remembered. He said the church and the world owed much to them.

"We are arranging," he said, "that to this end there be canonically begun the processes of beatification of these holy and eminent supreme pontiffs who are so dear to us."

Pope Paul said many persons had sought such action for the two Popes.

Beatification declares that someone is worthy of public veneration because of exceptional holiness during his life. It is a step toward canonization, which declares that the beatified may be called a saint.

In his speech, Pope Paul also announced:

—That the long-awaited reform of the Vatican Curia is progressing and that he will soon announce a new statute for the Vatican's Holy Office, the Curia's most powerful unit and its most controversial.

Plans Special Jubilee

—That the period from the end of the Ecumenical Council, Dec. 8, to Pentecost Sunday, next June, will be a special jubilee period for the world's Roman Catholics to promote the council's decisions.

Clark Urges Bombing

CHICAGO (AP)—Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark has urged bombing attacks on all military targets in North Viet Nam to force the Communists to seek a peace settlement.

Clark, who was commander in chief of U.S. fighting forces during part of the Korean War, also said at a news conference Wednesday that this country "shouldn't fight it out on a manpower basis" against the Reds in Viet Nam.

"They have more men than we have and they don't care how many they lose, while we do," he said.

—That he hopes to convene his new Synod of Bishops for the first time next year or, if not feasible then, in 1967.

Pope Paul's statement on the Curia had long been expected, he said he felt there was no need for great changes but for "perfecting."

Pope Paul established the Synod, or Synate, of Bishops, with representatives from various nations, to advise him on various matters after the council ends. Many experts feel it will amount to a sort of continuation of the council.

The two decrees of the Ecumenical Council promulgated today were on the apostolate of the laity and on divine revelation.

During the council session, the prelates took a final vote on the two documents. The divine revelation decree was approved by a vote of 2,344-6, the laity decree by 2,305-2.

Pope Paul then promulgated the two decrees.

The decree on the laity bids the Roman Catholic laymen play an active role in their church and recommends creation of a Vatican secretariat for the laity.

The decree on divine revelation says both Scripture and the traditions of the Church "merge into a unity" in handing down the word of God. It encourages the preparation by Protestant and Catholic scholars, working together, of Bible translations for interdenominational use.

The general contents of both decrees were known before their promulgation. The complete texts became public with today's ceremony.

Four to Come

The documents are the 11th and 12th issued as decrees by the council since it began in 1962. Four more will be issued before the council ends Dec. 8.

The decree on the laity encourages Catholic men and women "to a more fervent life," binding them to what they can to help their church spread the Gospel both as individuals and as members of Catholic lay organizations.

It cautions Catholics against "distortion of the temporal order" to the degree of idolizing modern progress, and it says Christian charity obliges "every prosperous nation and person" to help those in need.

The decree urges a strengthening of Catholic action groups at all levels, including in the parishes, by the creation of councils of clergy and laity "for work in the charitable, social and other spheres."

The council recommended that the proposed Vatican secretariat of the laity include laymen in "a well-equipped center for communicating information about the various apostolic programs of the laity, promoting research into modern problems arising in this field, and assisting the hierarchy and laity in their apostolic works with its advice."

But in the afternoon she got a telephone call from model Brigitte Ingberg, who said "I'm so sorry," and went on to explain she had picked up the wrong coat.

90 Days in Jail

Accused of issuing fraudulent checks, Shirley Christiana, 24, of River Road, Port Ewen, was arrested Wednesday by BCI investigator Roger Gardner. The defendant pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert S. Stedje, Town of Ulster, and was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

Legislature May Let Some '66 Questions Lie Dormant

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Legislature, reacting to voter protests that the list of 13 questions on this year's ballot was too long and too cluttered, is expected to head off what could be an even worse situation next year.

22 Ready Now

Twenty-two proposed constitutional amendments are ready for second-session consideration by the 1966 Legislature. If all are approved again, they would go on the ballot next November. Long delays at many polling places last Nov. 2 were attributed to the string of 13 amendments, many of them highly technical. The law allows each voter three minutes in an election booth. The lawmakers could keep any of the pending 22 issues off the voting machines next November by allowing them to lie dormant throughout the 1966 session. They probably will ignore some in this fashion.

Issues left off the 1966 ballot can be considered by a constitutional convention voters have authorized in 1967.

The list of 13 questions this year and the original potential of 22 for next year will appear relatively short compared with the convention recommendations to be submitted to voters in 1967.

Those who advocated the convention method of amendment anticipate a major overhaul of the state's basic law, and each change must be presented individually.

More Protests Likely

So, the complaints of delay and confusion that arose this year may be a mere ripple compared with reaction when voters are confronted with the list of convention recommendations.

Gov. Rockefeller this week faced an overflow Albany audience at a meeting to begin planning for the state's "Pure Waters Program."

Many of the audience of 250 were puffing on cigars, cigarettes and pipes. Smoke filled the crowded room.

"Never mind pure waters," quipped the non-smoking governor, "we've got a pure air problem in here."

Aides hastened to open windows.

Holton, laboratory director, checks the map which defines wooded areas, fields and bodies of water. Soil samples collected from the sections are used in estimating floodwater runoff from rainstorms on 200 experimental watersheds throughout the country.

3 No-Trump Just Too Much

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The British team in this year's European bridge championship tourney employed a weak no-trump when not vulnerable. Thus, South, who held a normal strong no-trump opening, had to open with one club. North responded one heart and this gave East a chance to stick in a one-spade overcall.

South showed that he held a normal strong no-trump opening by bidding one no-trump and North raised him to game. Wilkosz of Poland, who sat West, opened the eight of spades, and Kukulicz in the East seat played the seven-spot, since he had no way to get in for the rest of the suit if he won that first trick.

Tarlo of Great Britain, who was declarer, counted a maximum of eight tricks and decided to attempt to collect one heart trick. He led the jack of hearts from his hand to give the impression that he was looking for the queen but Wilkosz refused to be fooled and went right up with his ace. Then he led a second place spade and another contract had bit the dust.

Playing standard American, South would have opened one no-trump and North would just raise to three. West might find the spade lead but the odds are that he would lead some other suit, whereupon declarer would have no trouble making at least nine tricks.

Incidentally, Great Britain suffered no loss. I don't know how the Poles bid the North-South cards but they arrived at four hearts, only to lose two spades, a ruff and the ace of trumps.

Red Sea Wealth

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists report they found a wealth of fish and extensive mineral deposits in the Red Sea during a 297-day voyage by the research ship Atlantis II of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

The study was designed to find out why fish are so plentiful in the Red Sea so India might be able to supply fish to improve the diet of its huge population.

Picking Up SPEED

The world's fastest train now streaking along the rails in Japan, is very likely to speed solution of some of this country's transportation problems. Lessons learned from the new Hikari (Flash)—covering the 322 miles between Tokyo and Osaka, Japan's two largest cities, in 3 hours 10 minutes—are certain to influence planning for high-speed rail service in our "northeast corridor" from Washington to Boston. At left is the Hikari, which hits speeds up to 150 m.p.h. on special roadbeds and with special safety devices and control equipment. Similar scale maps below show the Tokyo-Osaka route, left, and the U.S. "northeast corridor," right. It is hoped eventually to have trains making the 454-mile Washington-Boston run in something like four hours.

Europe has several fast trains. Italy's Martini covers the 600-mile Milan-Rome-Naples run at 100 m.p.h. and better.

France's Mistral, until the Hikari the world's fastest, averages close to 80 m.p.h. on the 195-mile Dijon leg of its Paris-Riviera run.

Spain's Talgo does the 400 miles from Irun, on the French border to Madrid in eight hours, takes curves at 70 m.p.h.

LA Paper Hit By Guild Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Newspaper Guild went on strike early today against the nation's largest evening daily, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

The union contract with the Hearst-owned paper expired at midnight Wednesday night.

Negotiations Continue

Negotiations were reported continuing despite the strike as union and management representatives met with mediators. A management statement said, "The guild had demands on the table in money items alone of more than $35 a week in increases."

"This newspaper is continuing to publish. Employees in all other departments are reporting for work."

Assistant managing editor Agness Underwood said department heads would fill in for the estimated 1,000 struck editorial, advertising and circulation workers.

Shortly after the walkout, the Guild accused the paper of "threatening, coercing and intimidating" employees before the strike deadline and said it had filed unfair labor practice charges with the National Labor Relations Board.

Report Threats

Jim Bennett, president of the Los Angeles unit said, "Many of our members reported they were threatened with being fired if they did not report for work today."

Key issues, union spokesman said, involve wage and job security issues.

Officials Attend Law Enforcement Parley Wednesday

A number of law enforcement officials from Kingston and Ulster County attended a session of the Responsibilities of Law Enforcement in 1965 Law Enforcement Conference Wednesday at Bear Mountain.

Attending was District Attorney Joseph P. Torrance, Investigator Arthur H. Brown who is attached to the district attorney's office, Sheriff-elect William B. Martin, Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Chief of Police Harold Mills of Saugerties, Chief of Police Abe Rand of Ellenville, Chief Harold Bowers of Tilton, Special Agent Jack Lupton and Special Agent Robert Jenkins of the FBI.

Following registration at 9 a. m. the session opened with remarks by John F. Malone, assistant director in charge of the FBI in New York; Erastus VanHouten, chief of the Palisades Interstate Park police and J. Henry Mock, sheriff of Rockland County.

During the session there was discussion on "Improving and Maintaining Law Enforcement's Public Image," "Scientific Aids to Law Enforcement," and "Cooperation — The Backbone of Effective Law Enforcement."

Among those who participated in the program was Morton S. Silberman, Rockland district attorney; Thomas J. O'Rourke, chief of the New York City Transit Authority Police; John E. Hoy, Westchester County sheriff; William H. Gardiner, deputy inspector, Suffolk County Police Department; Vincent G. Thornton, deputy chief inspector of Nassau County police department; James T. McShane, FBI Special Agent; Vincent J. Broderick, New York City Police Commissioner; William A. O'Connor, superintendent of police of Port of New York Authority; Thomas H. Denale, major New York State Police, and William M. Alexander, special agent in charge, FBI New York.

Journeymen now receive $164.50 a week minimum after five years, and are demanding two yearly raises—$16 the first and $8 the second year. The newspaper has offered $14.05 and $4.25.

The Guild also demands a guild shop, a 35-hour work week, new health and welfare plans to be paid by the employer and an increase of 10 to 20 days yearly in sick leave benefits.

Publisher George R. Hearst Jr. said the paper's circulation is 720,000 copies daily, surpassing the Hearst-owned New York Journal-American, formerly the largest evening daily.

One Thing Then Another

NEW DELHI (AP)—A number of New Delhi's major streets had become too congested, so they were widened. Now the city has another problem: Light poles which were moved back are amidst tall trees and the streets are considered to be too dark.

Note to new brides: Keep a cake tester in your kitchen if you plan to do some baking. This little gadget is nothing more than a slender piece of firm wire with a looped handle; it is inexpensive and widely available in dime stores and at the gadget counters in household wares departments of stores.

Will Cooperate, but

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada said Wednesday night that "we can share blackouts" but Canada has no desire to lose its national identity.

A "friendly cooperation" is essential, he said, but too much might lead to absorption "which is undesirable for both of us." The Canadian leader spoke at a dinner at which he received the third award of the Society of the Family of Man.

Check Ammonia Leak

Firemen were called at 9:23 a. m. today to check an ammonia leak at the Kingston Beef Corp., 10 Meadow Street. It came from the refrigeration system and was traced to a broken pipe. Occupants evacuated the building while it was ventilated and firemen stood by until repairs arrived. Units from Central Station responded with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Robert W. Hardwick in charge.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The armistice in the aluminum war still leaves a parcel of problems hanging fire in the government's stockpiling of materials for defense.

Could Repeat
Even the tentative agreement between the Johnson administration and the aluminum producers on disposing of surplus metal in government storage will be subject to congressional approval. It might also be upset by future turns in the course of the economy and the cold war.

The stockpile of some 100 strategic materials has caused battles between industry and government before, and doubtless will again.

In 1962, President John F. Kennedy charged that excessive quantities had been bought. Disputes broke out over how to dispose of surpluses without either disrupting current industrial activity or giving some unearned windfalls to individual companies or industries.

The aluminum war centered on the threatened use of the government stockpile to scuttle a price rise announced early this month by the big producers. The increase was rescinded and negotiations resumed on how to cut the government's 1.9 million tons back to the 450,000 tons or so that it now thinks would be all it needs for a non-nuclear war.

More Turkeys, Higher Prices

By DON WATERS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Production of turkeys for Thanksgiving dinner tables has been more abundant this year than last, but the price for both the farmer and the consumer may be higher.

Wallace Evans, a statistician with the State Agriculture Department, said today an estimated 104 million gobblers would be raised in the United States this year, four per cent more than in 1964.

At the same time, he said, New York State's already slim portion of the market would drop nine per cent, to a total production of 376,000 birds.

Despite the nationwide production increase, he said, U.S. Agriculture Department surveys indicate that the live weight prices received by the farmer and the over-ready prices paid by the consumer will be about one cent higher than last year.

Evans attributed this seeming paradox to several factors, including a smaller-than-normal backlog of turkeys in cold storage, the growth of population and an increase in exports.

A survey of food markets throughout the state indicated that consumers generally will pay from 28 to 49 cents a pound for a thanksgiving bird, depending on weight and retail brand. This also is a cent higher than comparable prices last year.

A meat-buyer for a Buffalo supermarket chain said his firm takes a small loss from its turkey sales in order to attract customers. While the wholesale price in that area has risen about three cents a pound since last year, he said, the increased cost to the consumer has been absorbed by the retailer.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thanksgiving shoppers can reap a bountiful harvest at the food markets across the land this weekend.

The traditional turkey will be featured at most stores, but will cost more in Los Angeles. Elsewhere, prices have changed little. The number of turkeys available is up 5 per cent from last year, and there is everything from 30-pound birds to cut-up ones and turkey rolls.

There is little of the corn that played such a big part in the first Thanksgiving, but there are heavy supplies of potatoes, nuts, oranges, grapefruit, apples and bananas, with prices down. Cranberry prices are edging upward as holiday buying increases.

In most areas, beef is a good buy, with roasts and steaks favorably priced. Pork chops, roasts and hams are available, and there may be bargain tags on lamb chops and roasts.

No Spurs in Planes

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A framed plaque in the office of an aircraft company executive sets forth these rules published by the old Army Air Force about 1920: 1—Don't take the machine into the air unless you are satisfied it will fly. 2—Riding on the steps, wings or tail of the machine is prohibited. 3—Aviators will not wear spurs while flying.

SILLER HAMS

The Finest, Tastiest HAMS Available!

day's price of 24½ cents a pound, it could get around $700 million back.

But the Johnson administration can dispose of only 500,000 tons on its own say-so; it will require congressional action to release the other 900,000 tons. And since the armistice calls for gradual sale of government stocks over a long period of years, the price the government will be getting will vary from time to time. The armistice doesn't guarantee that the market price always will be 24½ cents a pound, and never vary up or down as the market dictates.

Right now the aluminum industry can absorb some of the government surplus without hurting. Supplies are tight, and demand is increasing. If the economy's pace slackens later on, and if the demand for the metal drops, so too may the price. And the producers will squirm if they are held to buying back, year after year, the government metal they don't want when struggling to sell their own output.

Po'keepsie GOP Chairman Says Fish Not Best

Hamilton Fish Jr. will not be the best candidate to oppose Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Poughkeepsie Republican Chairman Edward J. Filipowicz has declared according to the Poughkeepsie Journal.

Accusing Fish of "trying to steamroll" to the GOP congressional nomination, Filipowicz says he believes that a 1950 agreement among Republican committees in the 28th District that the next Republican candidate come from Dutchess is out-dated. "I think it's an old document and has been gathering dust for 15 years. We don't have a Republican congressman from the district now and I want to see one," Filipowicz said.

As to the "steamrolling tactics," the chairman contended that they will not benefit the party and may prevent potential candidates from "surfacing."

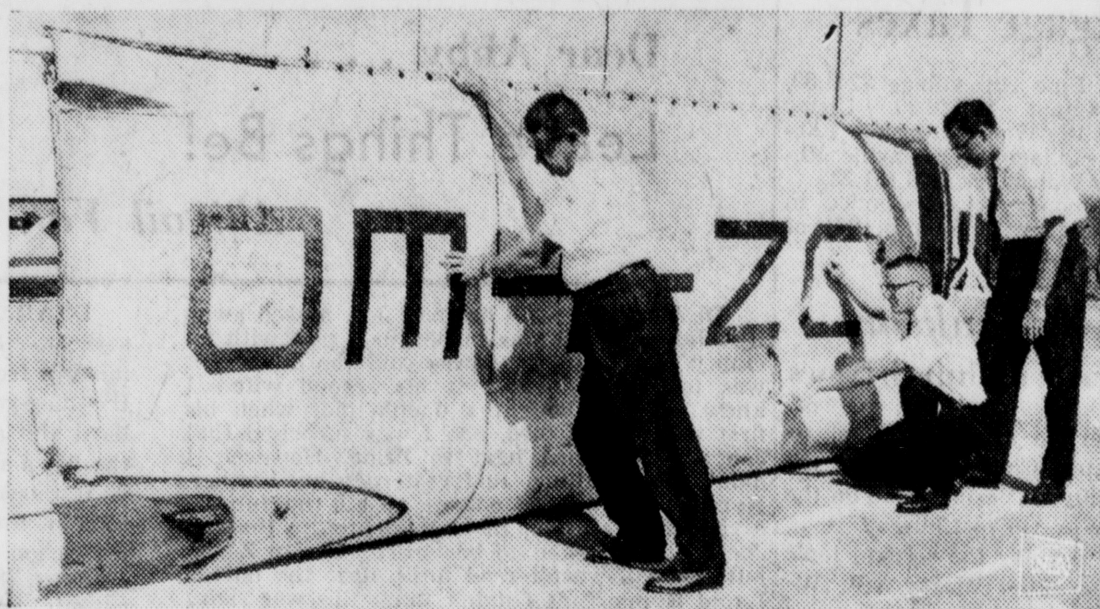

The city chairman's comments were prompted by 1,000 letters sent out to Republican committeemen and workers by a "Committee for a Dutchess County Congressman."

Former Beacon City Judge

Benjamin P. Roosa and head of the committee said that he personally supports Fish for the nomination. Other members of the committee have not committed themselves to any candidate.

Getting Fancy

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—The remodeled Madison County Courthouse drew the praise of a county grand jury. The panel added a suggestion: Officials should "keep it free of loafers of the whittling and tobacco chewing variety."

BACK FROM SPACE—It isn't always true that what goes up must come down, particularly when you're talking about space shots. But this insulation panel from an Atlas/Centaur rocket did make it back to earth in fairly good shape. Design engineers at General Dynamics' Convair plant at San Diego, Calif., examine the panel, recovered from the Atlantic 10 days after launch.

20 New Records Are Available at Hurley Library

Mrs. Aloma L. Pfrommer, librarian for the Hurley Library Association, announced today that a new collection of records has been received by the library and is now available for borrowing by patrons.

The collection consists of 20 records selected by Miss Ruth Myers, audio-visual consultant for Mid-Hudson Libraries, and includes children's music, drama, classical, semi-classical and educational recordings.

The records are part of a rotating collection distributed by Mid-Hudson Libraries to all its 51 member libraries and three reading centers in Putnam, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Ulster Counties.

Tandem Tours

NEW YORK (AP)—Surprise hit of the summer theatrical season was "This Was Burlesque," a show which ran off-Broadway three years but had only indifferent success when it moved to the Great White Way. The nostalgic variety exhibit proved such a draw that two companies are already booking for tandem tours next summer.

Add a little grated lemon rind to rich baking powder biscuit dough for biscuits. Split the biscuits when they are hot from the oven and spread with a mixture of butter and honey. Rush to the table!

No Concern Over Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is assuring the nation there is no need for concern over this country's declining stocks of wheat.

The secretary told a farm outlook conference that "if the need arose, for example, we could double the nation's wheat production in two years — with most of the increase in the first year."

Dear Abby . . .

Leave Things Be!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Joe, passed away last January and was buried in a plot with an empty plot beside it. I was told the other plot was for Hilda. (Hilda is his second wife.) I knew Joe had bought a double plot when his first wife, Zelda, died, and I was surprised that Joe wasn't buried next to Zelda. However, I didn't say anything. Just yesterday my brother, Hymie, who was in charge of all the funeral arrangements, told me confidentially that in Joe's will he asked to be buried next to Zelda, but the will wasn't read until after the burial. I told Hymie that I didn't think this was right, and we should take steps to do something about it. Hymie said, "Oh, what's the difference? Joe and Zelda are both dead now, and it might hurt Hilda." What do you think?

THE SISTER
DEAR SISTER: Let the sleeping man lie. No good will come from exhuming the issue.

DEAR ABBY: Virgil and I have been married for 14 years and we have three children. Our problem is our families—on both sides. They have made nervous wrecks of my husband and me. On the advice of several doctors, we have decided to quit associating with all our relatives, but they refuse to leave us alone. They drop in all the time and irritate us by bringing up subjects they know we don't care to talk about. If they give us Christmas gifts this year, should we accept them or not? If you advise us to accept them, we'll have to give them gifts—right? I hate the thought of such hypocrisy. There is no getting along with these people. They have stirred up nothing but trouble ever since our marriage. What is your advice?

VIRGIL'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I advise you to follow your doctor's orders, and quit associating with all who irritate you. But let these people know of your intentions so they won't continue to drop in and annoy you. Once you have done this, you won't have to worry about any Christmas gifts.

Tipsy Spirals

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—A barber pole that runs backwards and causes the stripes to spiral down instead of up, is mixing up the customers. Barber Paul

White says he has tried about everything to correct the backward spiral but is unable to make it spiral in the right direction. "I tried reversing the motor, and I tried reversing the painted cellophane cylinder," he said mournfully. "Nothing worked. So I came to the conclusion the stripes were just painted on backwards, or upside down, or something."

Many Have Constructive Views

College Students Pose Key Factor for Any Viet Regime

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Most of the college students in Viet Nam have never known their country at peace.

They have been instrumental in bringing down two governments, and they are a factor any regime has to reckon with. Some are draft dodgers, and there often is the feeling that many come under the influence of subversive movements, but the constructive views of others cannot be dismissed.

Had Peaceful End

Thousands of restless students staged an anti-government demonstration last August in Hue. For four successive days, about 3,000 students held heated meetings. They denounced the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, as an incompetent and called for a return to civilian rule.

The demonstrations ended peacefully.

In November 1963, students sided with Buddhists in the crisis that led to the death of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Last February, they took to the streets again and heaped toples Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

Complicated War

The students charged that Diem and Khanh were corrupt and that their governments did not represent the people. The students were criticized by many as being a disruptive influence whose actions had set back the war against the Viet Cong.

To this day, however, many of the nation's 20,000 college students feel they were justified in ridding the nation of Diem and Khanh.

"In South Viet Nam," said

one student, "we are involved in a very complicated war. It is not only a military war but also a cultural, social and economic war. We have to go to other frontiers — those of poverty, ignorance and disease. And it is with this prospect that Vietnamese youth have to struggle to find a meaning for their lives."

Yet the feeling persists among many that the students are more concerned with their own security than with the welfare of their country.

Last summer, however, more than 8,000 youth and student volunteers went out into the country and built new roads, houses, schools, dug wells and built health centers in 300 hamlets. In another social service program endorsed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, they are helping the government develop one of Saigon's poorest slum districts.

While many students remain apathetic toward Ky — they feel the youthful filer is the wrong man for the job — they appear more interested in channeling their energies toward improving rather than ousting the government.

Prefer Civilian Rule

Most students probably would support views of the chairman of the General Association of Saigon Students, the largest student organization in the country.

"We are intensely anti-Communist but also intensely nationalistic," says this man, Tran Quang tri, 26. "We support the U.S. military effort in our country, but we would prefer a civilian government and we are looking forward to the day when the war ends and your troops go home."

When the wave of noisy student demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam broke out in the United States, the organization mildly reprimanded U.S. students in an open letter that said:

"Vast America, in which you live, and little Viet Nam in which we still struggle to win the right to live free, are already soaked with the blood of our ancestors. It seems, however, that those who live in happiness now and enjoy unbounded freedom do not realize what it takes to maintain freedom. Freedom can be obtained only through hard fighting."

Urge More Bombings

Some of the young people favor a more vigorous military offensive against the Communists. They have called for a stepup in bombings in North Viet Nam. A few who have had relatives killed by the Viet Cong would like to see the Allied forces launch a ground attack against North Viet Nam.

These are the students most likely to dismiss antiwar demonstrations in the United States as draft-dodgers, cowards, persons under Communist influence, or young persons who are misinformed.

A relatively small number of students have called for a neutralized settlement of the war and have urged a coalition government with the Communists. The majority of these attend the state-operated university in Hue, a traditional hotbed of agitation.

While students accept the presence of U.S. forces as necessary, they are sharply critical of many aspects of the U.S. military buildup.

For example, student papers

'From your husband! Good heavens, what did he DO?'

have complained about the relations of U.S. troops with Vietnamese women and the lack of a status-of-forces agreement between South Viet Nam and the United States.

On the theory that the students need an outlet to "sound off," the nation's leaders have given them more freedom of expression than they probably have ever enjoyed. On the other hand, Ky has charged that intellectuals spend too much time talking about political abstractions.

There is some evidence that the Viet Cong have attempted to infiltrate student rings in Hue but apparently with little success.

Students insist that their military record is comparable to any other nation where universal military training is in effect. One U.S. observer who has worked closely with Vietnamese students feels the mass of them have been wrongly accused of being troublemakers because of the irresponsible actions of a few.

"The great majority of university students do not care about politics," he says. "Many who do are politically ambitious themselves, but the bulk of them are motivated by a sense of national service and humanitarianism."

Fairly Important Announcement

Now, for the first time, and in response to tremendous public demand from several nice people who couldn't get any, Schweppes Ginger Ale and Schweppes Club Soda have been shipped into stores all over Hudson Valley.

If you don't mind how you wet your whistle, this piece of information will leave you pretty indifferent, won't it.

But if you like a Club Soda that keeps its perky bubbles all the way through your drink; if you prefer a Ginger Ale with the patrician tang of imported Jamaican ginger, the news is not without a certain Schweppescent significance.

P.S. (Price Surprise) Schweppes Ginger Ale and Schweppes Club Soda cost no more than ordinary mixers.

They come in 10-ounce and 28-ounce bottles. No deposit, no return. Who wants to bother with empties, anyway?

Two Albany Men Are Charged With Burglary Attempt

Two Albany men were in Delaware County jail today facing grand jury action on charges of second degree burglary, after they were surprised while attempting to break into a Grand Gorge residence.

Trooper V. U. Larsen of Margaretville said Samuel Charles Slick, 22, and Wilbur Harris, 41, both of 390 Third Street, Albany, waived preliminary examination yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Solie Darling, Town of Middletown. Both waived preliminary examination and were committed to jail pending grand jury investigation.

Anna Grigas, Grand Gorge, notified Margaretville State Police that two men were attempting to break into her home while she was inside. The men, later identified as Slick and Harris, reportedly cut a hole in a porch screen door, reached inside and smashed the glass in the door leading to the living quarters with a glass jug.

Trooper Joseph Hewitt answered the call and took Harris in custody at the scene, according to Trooper Larsen. Slick disappeared.

Yesterday afternoon, Kingston police received a call from Lake Katrine troopers asking local authorities to intercept Slick who was expected to arrive here on a Trailways bus. Officer Louis Sapp went to the bus terminal on Broadway and at 4:55 p. m. apprehended Slick as he left a bus.

Slick was turned over to Kingston State Police and later was taken to Margaretville for arraignment.

The case was investigated by BCI Investigator Robert Vassisko.

Mintz Trial Is Delayed Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The trial of Assemblyman Hyman E. Mintz and Carl Kaplan, former police chief of Fallsburgh, N.Y., on charges of conspiring to bribe a detective was delayed again today, at least until Dec. 6.

Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markwick indicated that he will rule then on a motion by Kaplan to suppress a statement he made to authorities at the time of his arrest.

Mintz has moved for a trial severance, but this motion has been held in abeyance pending a decision on Kaplan's appeal.

Mintz, 56, and Kaplan, 52, were indicted June 2 on charges of attempting to bribe a detective on the staff of New York County District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. They were accused of trying to learn what evidence had been given before a grand jury investigating reports of a $100,000 bribe in the licensing in 1959 of the Finger Lakes Race Track in Canandaigua, N.Y.

Central Hudson Describes Conditions at Blackout

The following account describes the conditions prevailing on the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation system and the operation of facilities just prior to, during and after the interruption of power on Tuesday, Nov. 9, 1965.

During the period immediately preceding the power failure there were no unusual conditions on the Central Hudson transmission system or in its generating stations.

Transmission interconnections at Pleasant Valley (with Consolidated Edison), North Catskill (with Niagara Mohawk), Sugarloaf (with Orange & Rockland), and West Woodbourne (with New York State Electric & Gas) were closed. Interconnections at Sugarloaf (with New Jersey Power & Light), and Falls Village (with Hartford Electric Company) were open, which is the normal operating condition.

When an interconnection is "closed," there can be an exchange of power. When the interconnection is "open," no exchange is possible.

Central Hudson's system load was approximately 335,000 kilowatts. At the time, five generating units were in operation on the Central Hudson system with a total generating capability of 309,400 kilowatts. In addition, Central Hudson was purchasing 53,000 kilowatts from Consolidated Edison. This provided a total available capacity of 362,000 kilowatts to the Central Hudson system, leaving a "spinning reserve" of 27,000 kilowatts.

Generally speaking, "spinning reserve" represents the ability of generators presently operating to pick up additional load during an emergency.

At approximately 5:16 p. m. Central Hudson experienced severe voltage and frequency disturbances. These were followed by a reversal of power flow from the prior 53,000 kilowatts coming into the Central Hudson system from Con Ed to a point at which the outflow flow caused Central Hudson's generation to trip out because of an overload.

Excess of Power

Tripping of transmission lines feeding the Toronto area resulted in a large excess of power at the Ontario Hydro Commission's Sir Adam Beck hydro-electric generating station on the Canadian Side of the Niagara River. This excess power surged through New York State causing a breakup of the 345,000 kilowatt cross-state grid. This breakup resulted in a severe power shortage in the eastern portion of the Niagara Mohawk System, the Southeastern New York State Power Pool and New England systems. Generation in these areas, including Central Hudson's Danskammer Point Steam Station, attempted to continue to carry the load. However, generators tripped out from overload and to prevent extensive damage.

At approximately 5:22 p. m. the power supply to the entire Central Hudson system was disrupted. The utility proceeded to open all of its interconnections in order to isolate the Central Hudson system from its neighboring utilities and the power grid. By opening breakers, Central Hudson also isolated substations from its transmission system and further sectionalized its subtransmission system to permit restoration of service to manageable blocs of customers.

During this period, switching lines was performed to permit preferential restoration of service to critical areas, such as hospitals, and public services, when the first amounts of power became available.

Sturgeon Pool Action

Steps were taken to activate Sturgeon Pool Hydro station in Ulster County to provide the power necessary to start Danskammer. Before this action was completed, Orange and Rockland notified Central Hudson that it had sufficient power available to permit the starting of one of Danskammer's three generating units.

Central Hudson obtained the power required to start the generating unit by using a 115,000-volt transmission line between Danskammer and its interconnection with Orange & Rockland at Sugarloaf, near Monroe.

It was also learned that New Jersey Power & Light was not adversely affected by the blackout and would be willing to supply Central Hudson with up to 50,000 kilowatts of power to help restore service. Central Hudson again used its Sugarloaf interconnection, this time with the New Jersey utility, to obtain a limited amount of power while it continued to restore its own generation at Danskammer.

During the evening, as more power became available from Danskammer, Central Hudson provided limited amounts of power to New York State Electric & Gas for critical loads in the Brewster District. About 20,000 kilowatts of the 50,000 kilowatts obtained from New Jersey were reserved and offered to Consolidated Edison to help start their generating equipment.

Central Hudson began making power available to hospitals and other essential services in the Mid-Hudson Valley at 7:18 p. m. By 7:25 p. m. the utility was picking up large blocks of customers, mainly in the cities, using power from Danskammer Unit 2. Generating Unit 1 was available at 7:48 p. m. and by 8:30 p. m. more than two-thirds of Central Hudson's customers had their power restored. Power from Unit 3 became available at 8:52 p. m. and by 9 p. m. only 16 per cent of the utility's customers were without electricity.

The last Central Hudson customer was picked up by 9:55 p. m. The power failure caused the loss of electric service to all of Central Hudson's 147,386 customers in the entire service area of 2,500 square miles.

The interruption occurred when most of the Company's employees were either home or en route home. Almost immediately after the blackout started, Central Hudson employees began reporting to their normal work headquarters at their own volition to assist with service restoration. More than 325 employees worked in various capacities during the period of the emergency.

Sentence 3rd . . .

theft of four cars. He was sentenced to the 18 months at Otisville by Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn. A report on the above was entered on the Kingston police blotter at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Those Involved:

Car thefts involved, police said were: One owned by Elsie Brigham, of Pearl Street Extension which had been taken from the rear of the J. Wagon Bailey School and recovered in the lot of the Hurley Avenue A&P Market by Burger and Crespinio.

Another which Rosemarie Pavlovich, of Maple Avenue, Cementon, said was owned by her father, and which had been taken from the rear of the North Front Street Gulf Station, was recovered by officers Ira Hadsel and Richard Spaulding on Abel Street.

The car of Betty Ann O'Lund, of RD 4, Box 394, Maple Hill, reported taken from there was located at the rear of the bear cage in Forsyth Park by officers Ernest Bartroff and Jerry Vitek.

The car of James Gardner, of 109 Gage Street, reported stolen from Gage Street was located at Dietz Stadium by Bartroff and Vitek.

One of the latter two was reported recovered at 5:20 and the other at 5:25 a. m. Wednesday. A police report at 11 a. m. Wednesday noted that the car of Mary Klaus, of 130 Lucas Avenue, which had been taken from the rear of Art's Esso Station, Clinton Avenue, had been found abandoned in a ditch at Maple Hill. This report indicated some exchange of cars in the Maple Hill and Kingston thefts.

Also said to be involved in the rash of thefts was the car of Mrs. Florence Howard, Box 110, Hurley, reported taken Monday night from the post office annex in Kingston, and recovered at Maple Hill.

Police said that Sagar and the 12-year-old juvenile are charged with involvement only in the theft of the Svirsky car, which led to the police chase.

Postpones Test

TOKYO (AP)—The Defense Agency's research institute today postponed the test of a Japanese-made ground-to-ground missile because of opposition from residents near the testing range.

The tests were to have been held Nov. 25-26 at a firing range at foothills of Mt. Fuji, the same range where local residents last month forced the indefinite postponement of rocket-firing practice by U.S. forces.

An institute official said no new date had been set.

KURLAND HONORED—Daniel H. Morehouse, left chairman of volunteer First Aid for Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, presents Certificate of Appreciation from National American Red Cross to Robert A. Kurland, of 16 Spring Lake Road, while Mrs. Kurland stands by. Certificate cites Kurland for "outstanding service to the activities of the First Aid, Small Craft and Water Safety" of chapter for more than 10 years. Kurland, who has served since 1962 as executive director of Jewish Community Center in Kingston, began his volunteer work with Red Cross following completion of National Red Cross Aquatic School Course at Camp Watkins, Mass., in 1948. From that time to 1958 he was associated with Norfolk, Va. Red Cross Chapter and in December 1956 was given a service award by that chapter for his contributions to teachings of water safety and first aid. Kurland has taught at least 700 volunteers in local chapter's water safety and first aid programs within past four years. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr)

Failure Questions Go Beyond Big Blackout

NEW YORK (AP)—History's worst power failure apparently began in a piece of equipment the size of a household electric meter. But the larger question is what's to prevent it from happening again — accidentally or on purpose?

That question goes beyond the immediate cause of the recent massive blackout.

It is troubling defense planners, government officials, and power company executives, and has caused at least 30 million persons whose utter dependence on electricity became dramatically clear Nov. 9-10 to wonder about the very nature of a power grid, the distribution system which enabled the failure to zip across the Northeast like a run in a stocking.

Interlocking Networks

Power grids are interlocking networks of utility company lines which now extend to the Rockies and in a few years are expected to link 48 contiguous states in one big party line.

"The theory is good," said electrical engineer Lawrence J. Hollander. "There is nothing wrong with the theory." Hollander is assistant to the dean of New York University's School of Engineering and Science, and is one of a few academic men in the United States whose scholarly field is power generation, transmission, and distribution. When the lights went out last week Hollander was in the middle of a lecture on the effects of lightning striking transmission lines.

The power grid theory, in broad terms, involves companies with power to spare sending it quickly on interconnecting lines to companies with temporary shortages.

Years ago, each company operated independently. Each had to have what was called spinning reserve, a spare generator rotating but not producing electricity, against the possibility of a working generator failing.

It made sense, then, for two companies to agree to keep a single spinning reserve to satisfy both. The more companies making such cooperative agreements, the better. In the Northeastern United States, 42 companies are thus interconnected. Among them are more than 400 generators, all linked together.

Economical Advantage

Another advantage of such a network is that electricity can be delivered to customers more economically.

Old generators tend to be inefficient, producing electricity at costs as high as 8.5 cents a kilowatt hour. Newer ones can do it for as low as three-tenths of a cent. A kilowatt hour is the amount of electricity it takes to light ten 100-watt bulbs for an hour.

Many times it's cheaper for a company to buy extra electricity for demanding customers from another company, which has efficient generators operating than to produce its own with only tired old machines on hand. Electricity can't be stored; it must be produced the instant demanded.

Computers tell companies at every moment where the cheapest electricity is available within the network.

These networks have been formed throughout the country, and all of them are connected with neighboring networks. But at present the inter-network connections are generally weak.

Thus, I wanted to spread to another. They're much like big water systems connected only with garden hoses. The eventual plan is to replace the weak connections with strong ones, thus expanding the company buddy system between networks.

And thus also expanding the area vulnerable to a house-of-cards power failure?

Notes Some Savers

"Not necessarily," said engineer Hollander. "Time zones and seasonal differences can save us."

But how vulnerable is a network to dare anyone mention it? A sabotage?

"If I wanted to knock out the entire Northeastern United States, just as happened Nov. 9," said Hollander, "I would pick a Thursday or Friday night, just before Christmas. That would be a time of enormous load — lots of lights, stores open for shoppers, cold weather. That would be the time to do it. And I would simply cause some damage to the backbone line."

The backbone line is the extra high voltage — EHV — wire running from the big plants at Niagara Falls through Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and Poughkeepsie to New York City. At some points along the route, but not all, there are double lines, providing a backup system.

All linked to Backbone

All the systems in the entire eight-state network are linked eventually to the backbone.

And, most significant, all the generators in the network are in precise synchronization, each turning as though on a single axle. They have to be, Hollander explained, so that the entire system will throw simultaneously at 60 cycles a second.

Should a generator accidentally get out of synchronization it must correct itself quickly — or get off the system. Automatic equipment is supposed to see that it does one or the other.

If a big bird should fly between the high-powered transmission lines, for example, or a limb fall and disturb the flow, a device called a relay detects it and causes a circuit breaker to open momentarily for 1.5 to 3 cycles, the barest fraction of a 60-cycle second — then close again.

If the trouble hasn't passed, the process repeats itself. If after a third time it still hasn't fixed itself automatically, a repairman has to go out in a truck.

"That's what the automatic equipment is supposed to do," Hollander said. "Sometimes the equipment may not perform as expected. Perhaps the answer is more backup systems, more redundancy."

Hollander said when the backbone line is heavily loaded the generators are extremely sensitive, subject to the slightest disturbance.

That was exactly the situation the evening of the big blackout. New York City at that time was drawing enormous amounts of power from the huge Niagara sources.

Something caused a disturbance — nobody seems to know what — and the little relay box signaled a circuit breaker to open near the giant plant at Queenston, Ont., four miles north of Niagara Falls.

Instead of isolating the troubled line, the breaker sent its current to other lines, already loaded. They couldn't handle the excess.

The current flowing to New York reversed itself and, like air in a punctured tire, rushed to the point of least resistance, draining the power from the city.

At a different time of day, under a lesser load, generators throughout the system might have met the sudden demand.

But generators, like donkeys, will do only as much as they are capable and no more. When they sensed electronically that they couldn't meet the demand they cut themselves off to protect their own wiring, click, click, click, click, and 80,000 square miles went dark.

Mets Name Wes Westrum

NEW YORK (AP)—Wes Westrum was named manager of the New York Mets today, succeeding Casey Stengel, who retired.

Westrum, who took over as interim manager when Stengel fractured his left hip July 25, was given a one-year contract. The announcement followed a meeting of the Mets' board of directors.

Stengel retired Aug. 30. Under the former major league catcher, the Mets won 19 games and lost 48 for a 2.84 percentage. They were 31-64, .326 under Stengel.

Westrum will be 43 Nov. 28. He had been in his second year as Met coach when he got the call to manage.

Post 1219 Gets Member Trophy

Commander Sidney Connor of Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, American Legion, was presented a trophy recently for reaching the highest membership of the post's quota for 1965.

The trophy, awarded by Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 in memory of Donald Swart, was presented at the dinner held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby, honoring the appearance in Ulster County of William Eagen, Bronxville attorney, who is the American Legion Department Commander.

Thomas Bohan, chairman of the Ulster County American Legion membership committee, reported that the membership for the county was 1,092, or 41 per cent of the quota. He noted that membership in the American Legion of the county is running ahead of last year, due to the war in Viet Nam.

Bohan said it is hoped that the Ulster County American Legion will exceed the membership quota of 2,653 by Christmas and he urged all posts in the county to exercise special effort in enrolling new members.

Town of Ulster Post 1748 exceeded its membership quota before Nov. 11, and will soon receive a national award for membership.

Guests at the recent dinner introduced by Bohan included, Jack Lowther, past Third District commander; Past Commander Joseph Beichert, Johnny Walker, director of Boys State and James Marquardt, treasurer of the American Legion Mountain Camp.

Henry Wallace Is Dead at 77, Was Ill for Months

DANBURY, Conn. (AP)—Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, 77, died today in Danbury Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said he died late this morning. He had been ill several months.

The cause of death was said to be arterial sclerosis.

Mrs. Wallace was with him when the former vice president died.

Wallace was taken to the hospital in Danbury this morning from his home in South Salem, N.Y.

Wallace had been hospitalized earlier at the National Institute of Health in Washington. He was released Oct. 28 and he returned to South Salem.

The tall, gray-haired Iowa native served as vice president from 1941-1945 during the third term of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Johnson Wants Business To Hold Line on Prices

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Same technique, but faster this time. And President Johnson has made his point: He means business with business. He wants prices steady. If he has to play rough to keep them that way, he will.

He did this last week with the aluminum industry and now this week with the copper industry. In both cases he never said a word. He didn't have to. His technique was simple.

He stayed in the background and let his top aides do the talking and the rough stuff. But business could never have any doubt who was pulling the strings.

Although he had previously made clear he wants business to avoid price increases to prevent inflation, the aluminum industry ignored him and raised prices.

He must have hoped the industry would reconsider because for several days his aides hemmed and hawed and stumbled around with vague hints of what they might do while never saying it had any connection with the price boost.

Then the ax fell. The government has so much aluminum in its stockpile that it considered 1.4 million tons a surplus it wanted to get rid of.

Then on Nov. 6, Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, announced the government would get rid of 200,000 tons of its aluminum.

With that much aluminum turned loose, the industry's sales would suffer and it would have to cut prices. Still deadpan, naming no names and calling none, McNamara said the extra supplies on the market should "relieve price pressures." The industry got the message and cut prices.

Copper Prices Up
Meanwhile, the copper industry, as if it had never heard what happened to the aluminum industry, raised its prices. It did this shortly before Johnson's showdown with aluminum, but it kept them there.

Then Wednesday night McNamara came back into the picture suddenly by calling a news conference to "make an announcement." Unlike the government's performance with aluminum, there had been no hint of what was to come.

But McNamara disclosed the government, which also has more copper than it needs, would release 200,000 tons of it and would take other steps to put a brake on rising copper prices.

McNamara said Johnson concurred in his actions, although it was hardly necessary to say so.

Johnson had been criticized after his victory over the aluminum industry. His administration, which had mumbled for days before forcing the show-down, had been accused of fumbling and indecision and other things.

This kind of criticism seemed ridiculous for it was clear enough, when the administration finally decided to turn loose 200,000 tons of aluminum, what had been behind the delay and the huffing and puffing.

Anyone who has watched Johnson — a master politician who avoids name-calling, head-on clashes if they can be avoided, and unpleasant showdowns unless as a last resort — could have figured his tactics with aluminum.

If the industry took the veiled hints his aides were throwing out — before the McNamara announcement about the 200,000 tons of aluminum — maybe it would drop its price increase.

Industry Wouldn't Yield
But the industry wouldn't yield until forced to. With that lesson in mind, the administration didn't go through the same routine with the copper industry.

It just did the same thing to copper that it did to aluminum, without public warning.

All this should provide a good insight — particularly for American business — into Johnson: That he's highly flexible, that he's determined, and that he will stick to what he wants with a minimum of shouting.

Now it's up to the copper industry to back down, as aluminum did, or try its luck by defying Johnson. Since he is a very resourceful man, this might not in the end be good business.

Grape and Apple Harvests Gain, Peach Crop Down

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The grape and apple harvests for this year are larger than last year's, the State Agriculture Department says.

However, the peach crop was down 14 per cent from last year. A department spokesman said Wednesday the total grape production, estimated at 145,000 tons, was up 21 per cent from 1964. The big harvest and lack of maturity, which slowed picking, forced growers to leave "substantial quantities" of the fruit on the vine the spokesman added.

Apple production this year reached 23.5 million bushels, the department said. This is nine per cent above the 1964 crop. Most of the crop in the apple-rich Hudson Valley was gathered by Nov. 1. In the Lake Ontario region, however, bad weather and labor problems barred completion of the harvest until a few days ago, the department said. The peach crop plummeted to about 670,000 bushels. The department offered no explanation for the decline.

State Welfare Group Presents Annual Awards

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A group of St. Lawrence University students, an editor and a college professor were singled out for awards during the 66th annual meeting of the New York State Welfare Conference.

The conference's annual award for the outstanding social project in the state went Wednesday to the St. Lawrence University Community Development Corps, comprising about 100 students.

"These young people on their own, have generously given their time, effort and talents to help families in their community that needed assistance and guidance," Dr. Morton I. Teichner, chairman of the conference awards committee, said. The conference's layman award, for the person who made a substantial contribution to social welfare, although not a social worker, was presented to David Bernstein, president of the Binghamton Sun-Bulletin newspaper.

The editorials and news stories on social problems and programs in the Sun-Bulletin constituted "an outstanding example of socially responsible journalism in the United States," Teichner said. Receiving the conference's annual award for a professional in the social welfare field "for his

Seek Ways to Assure Radios in Emergency

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Broadcasters Association is looking for ways to make sure that an adequate number of radio stations stay on the air during an emergency.

The association established a three-man committee Wednesday to work with Gov. Rockefeller's office toward that objective. The governor asked for the broadcasters' cooperation because of the shortage of information in many areas during last week's electric-power blackout, an association spokesman reported.

Rockefeller said after the blackout that the emergency was complicated by lack of adequate broadcasting facilities.

The committee members are from radio stations in Rochester and New York City.

Gadgets Most Fun During Hope's TV Show Wednesday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television's secret-agent epidemic has even infected the writers of the Bob Hope Theatre on NBC.

"Russian Roulette" Wednesday night was an hour comedy notable for the presence of Hope playing his usual character, this time called Les Haines. It is really the same fellow who has been turning up for years, from the "road" pictures to his last T-V sketch.

In this one he was a famous American comedian entertaining a GI audience in West Berlin at a time when a pilot of a disabled reconnaissance plane parachuted into the Soviet Union.

The pilot had failed to take his poison pill, a suspicious circumstance, so an intrepid American Meta Hari was assigned to contact the imprisoned flyer. She in turn was being spied upon by the Soviets, who were being spied upon by Red Chinese.

Hope, of course, was the vain, innocent dupe. There was a lot of chasing around. But the most fun were the gadgets — a perfume atomizer that contains knockout gas, a lipstick that is really a gun and photographic equipment disguised as compact and eyelash curler.

It ended happily, if extremely abruptly. Hope was his usual urbane self and Jill St. John made a very shapely if unconvincing spy. The story, unhappily, had a hurried, unfinished quality about it.

The debate inside TV went on whether the pre-broadcast stories of Frank Sinatra's objections to Tuesday night's flatteringly CBS special, "Sinatra," was really a successful publicity stunt. Whatever it was, an overnight audience survey by the American Research Bureau gave the show a rating of 19.2 indicating it had a larger audience than any rival broadcasts at the same time and achieved one of the highest ratings ever by a news or public affairs show in that time slot.

Recommended tonight: "Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus," NBC, 7:30-8:30 P.M.; "Inherit the Wind," NBC, 9:30-11, an adaptation of the Broadway play based on the Scopes trial with Melvyn Douglas and Ed Begley recreating their original roles.

Venue Change Is Denied N. Y. Man In Kidnap-Slaying

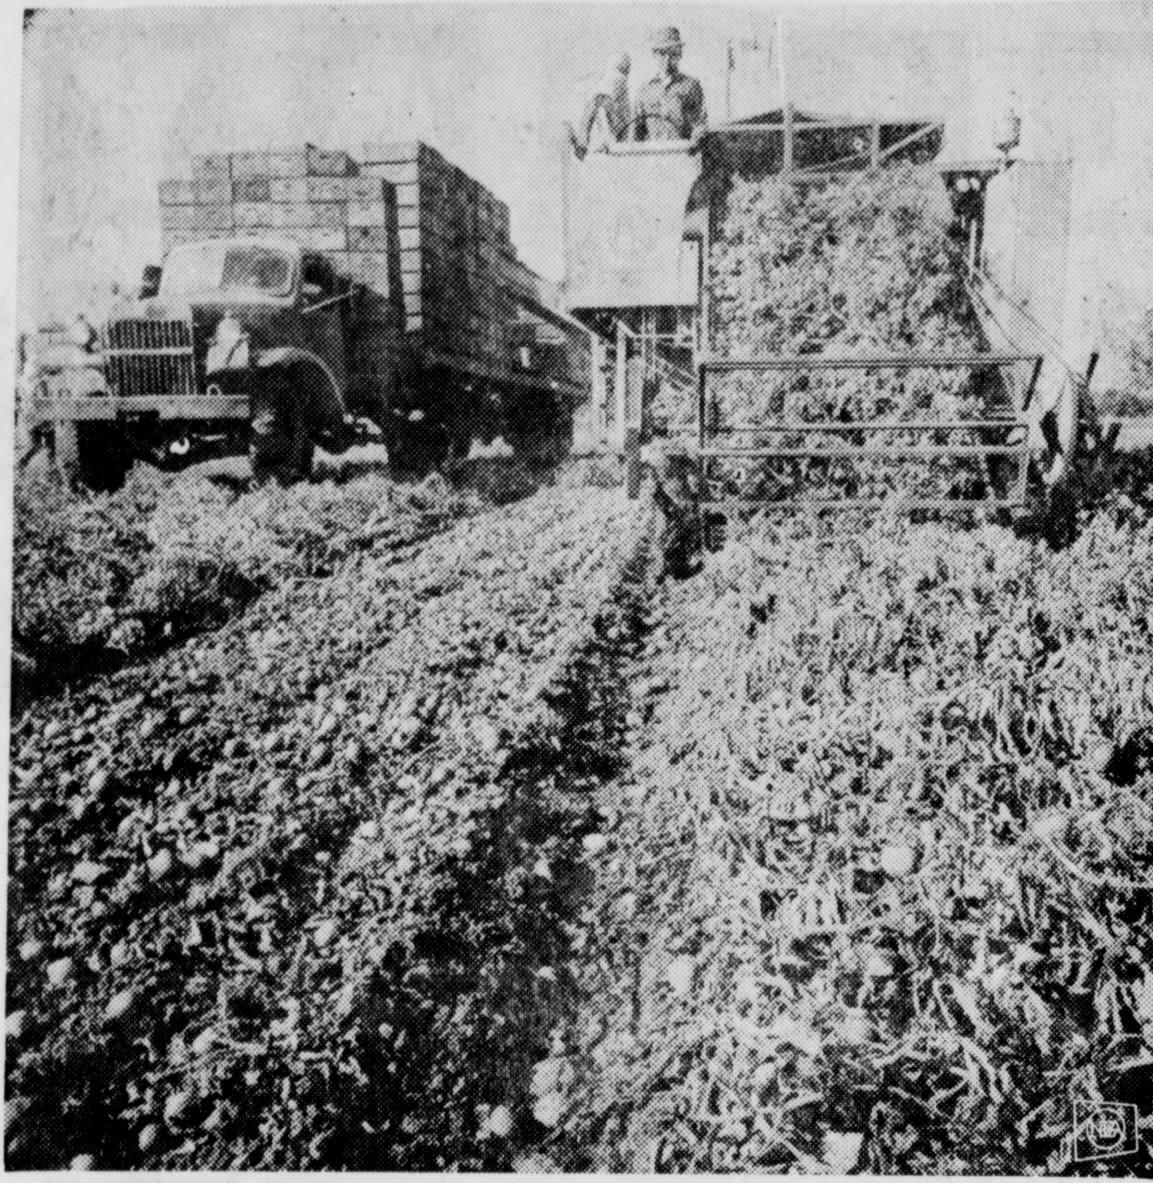

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Charles E. Corliss, 25, an ex-convict from Fulton, N.Y., must stand trial for murder and kidnapping in Helena, beginning Jan. 10, a judge has ruled.

Judge Lester H. Loble denied Wednesday a plea for a change in the location of the trial. He ordered Corliss to appear Friday for a ruling on a plea to suppress an alleged statement by Corliss.

The New York man is accused of the Sept. 14 kidnap-slaying of Donald C. Hammer, 48, operator of a Lincoln lumberyard. Corliss pleaded innocent. Hammer was robbed of $17 and a cigarette lighter.

David C. Walters, 18, of Keyes, Okla., pleaded guilty to the charges and was sentenced a week ago to life imprisonment for murder and 20 years for kidnapping. Corliss and Walters were working as harvest hands in Montana.

Corliss served a term in New York for a 1963 armed robbery.

NO STOOPING—Cutting a wide swathe through a field at Gilroy, Calif., this new $23,000 tomato harvester disposes of 15 tons of tomatoes an hour. It's mechanization rather than automation, however. It still takes 12 persons to sort out the crop on a conveyor belt.

Social Security Payments to Be Increased Here

Hidden behind the rather dull-sounding title "Social Security Amendments of 1965," lies some of the most sweeping and humanitarian legislation passed by Congress in many years. For in addition to increasing the amount and scope of social security coverage, this is the law that launched Medicare.

A compassion for the aged and the underprivileged are deeply imbedded in the American character. And the disturbing fact is that the aged and the underprivileged in the United States are, to a great extent, one and the same. For example, of the 18 million men and women over the age of 65 in the United States, 6 million have incomes of less than $3,000 a year. Almost half of the aged who were hospitalized last year incurred medical costs of over $1,000. One-third of our dilapidated and deteriorating housing is occupied by the aged.

The 1965 Amendments increase Social Security payments by 7 per cent, averaging over $4 per month. By 1967 this will bring $5,750,000 in additional benefits annually to residents of Ulster County, bringing total payments to $21,600,000 per year. In addition, some 800 Ulster County residents, previously not eligible for old age, survivors, and disability insurance payments, will now receive monthly benefits. This will bring the county an additional $2,300,000 a year. A new provision permits widows to begin receiving reduced monthly payments at age 60, instead of waiting until 62.

Cook Bear Meat Thoroughly Is Advice to Hunters

"Beware of eating undercooked bear meat" says Dr. G. F. Hoppenstedt, Ulster County Department of Health Veterinarian.

"Bears are among the animals infested with trichinosis, a disease caused by a nematode worm which can cause serious disease and even death in man. Any animal can become a carrier, usually by eating garbage which contains scraps of undercooked pork. Swine, rats, foxes, wolves and bears are notorious garbage eaters and this is how they become infested. Man acquires the disease by eating the flesh of these animals when it is not cooked enough," he said.

"If you are a hunter and have shot a bear this season, be sure to cook the meat thoroughly," Dr. Hoppenstedt said.

Thinks U. S. Moves Will Benefit Revere

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—An official of Revere Copper and Brass Inc. says his firm's plants in the Rome area will benefit from the federal government's moves to meet the copper shortage and curtail price increases.

Robert M. Lake said Wednesday night the government's action "will undoubtedly improve production and stabilize employment here."

Revere has a work force of about 5,000 at its seven plants in the Rome area. They have been on a curtailed production schedule because of a shortage of copper.

Lake, a Revere vice president and general manager of the company's Rome division, said production in the copper-fabricating industry had been hobbled by the metal shortage and by "highly inflated prices."

Would Strengthen Powers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate majority leader Stanley G. Stroup said today he planned to move legislation to strengthen the powers of the Milk Control Commission as quickly as possible through the Pennsylvania chamber.

"I would hope that we can run the bills shortly after we come back from the Thanksgiving recess," he said. "That's my intention, at least."

Watertown Man Is Given Army, AF Medals for Viet

Heidelberg, Germany (AP)—A Watertown, N.Y., Army officer wore two major medals today—awards from the Army and Air Force for service in Viet Nam.

U.S. Army Maj. Nicholas R. Pugliese received the Bronze Star and the Air Medal in ceremonies here Wednesday.

Pugliese, who served a year in Viet Nam as a physical security officer, is assigned to the Provost Marshal Division of the U. S. Army, Europe, Headquarters.

The Bronze Star citation, read by Brig. Gen. Harley L. Moore, said: "He was quick to grasp the implications of the new problems with which he was faced as a result of the ever-changing situations inherent in a counter-insurgency operation and to find ways and means to solve those problems."

The Air Medal citation, read by Col. William W. Overton of the Air Force, cited him for "meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight in support of combat ground forces."

"During this time he actively participated in more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory in support of counter-insurgency operations," the citation added.

Late but Lucky

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Jim Sievert, a Louisville student in Athens, Greece, decided to visit the Acropolis but reached the landmark at dusk—too late to be admitted. As Sievert stood admiring the view, a car pulled up and out stepped King Constantine and Queen Anne, followed by Queen Mother Fredericka and her three daughters. The royal party started inside and the King beckoned Sievert to follow. For an hour he browsed through the ancient ruins, with Queen Fredericka providing a running commentary.

Adams' Mishaps Not Always on TV Home Screens

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "My wife thinks I really am Maxwell Smart," laments comedian Don Adams, who plays the title role in the biggest hit of the new television season, "Get Smart."

In the series, which is the sole new show to make the hallowed top 10 in audience ratings, Adams plays an all-thumbs secret agent, the kind that could make James Bond cry U.N.C.L.E.

"My wife could be right," Adams sighed. "I'm the kind of a guy who is always knocking over water glasses and running out of gasoline. Whenever I do something like that, my wife says, 'You're Maxwell Smart, all right.'"

The external evidence seemed to bear him out. When he arrived for lunch at the Brown Derby, he was catching a cold. He ordered scrambled eggs and burned bacon. Burned bacon?

"That's right," he confided. "That's the only way you can really get it crisp. Only rarely does some smart-aleck chef really burn it."

The bacon arrived — burned. Despite occasional mishaps, Adams has had a good time of it in his chosen profession. Born Donald James Yarmy in New York City, 38 years ago, he started writing comedy material while working as a commercial artist. His stuff clicked with the better comics, and Don decided to deliver some of it himself. He started climbing after winning on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts show.

"For seven or eight years, I appeared on more television variety shows than any other stand-up comic," he said.

Bouncing back and forth between both coasts and playing night clubs all over, Adams found himself a rich gypsy. He was about to abandon performing for a career in production when he was cast for "The Bill Dana Show." A spin-off series was planned for him as the bumbling house detective, but the show was canceled before that happened.

Then came "Get Smart."

Department Sets Machinery for Jury Box Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Justice Department's civil rights machinery is gearing up to meet presidential demands for tough legislation aimed at securing the rights of Negroes.

Two years ago it was sweeping civil rights legislation. Last spring it was a law aimed at guaranteeing the ballot to Negroes.

Order Is LBJ's

And now the object is a bill aimed at taking racial discrimination out of the jury box at all levels of the judicial system, from county to federal.

President Johnson ordered the department this week to come up with a measure to present to Congress "clear in its purpose and specific in its aim...to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

High-level department sources indicated Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach is starting from scratch in his attempt to draw up a bill that will meet the President's demand.

"It's just too early to begin discussing the possibilities," one official said. "Right now what we've got to do is study the Southern jury system as it is today. And then we're faced with a whole batch of problems in coming up with legislation that will do the job without violating the Constitution."

Under the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the government already has intervened in several suits charging officials in Alabama counties with systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries. But without further legislation that is the limit of federal action in this field.

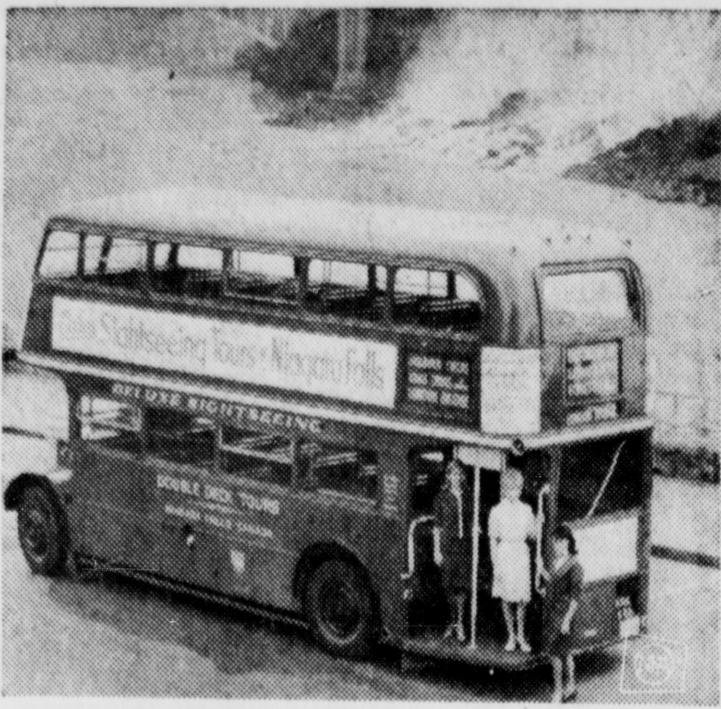

Some of the problems with which the Justice Department's civil rights strategists are wrestling:

Typical Problem

1. How can the federal government constitutionally apply a jury law to state judicial systems in whose county juries the problems described by Johnson have arisen?

2. How can it prove beyond a doubt that jury lists have been drawn up systematically to insure that only whites are listed?

3. If a finding of past discrimination in a local jury system is made, what happens to persons still in prison as a result of that jury system?

4. What federal laws can have any real effect on the vast discretion of county jury commissioners?

5. Even if a few Negroes are placed on Southern juries where they have never sat before, what effect — beyond a possible hung jury — can it have in trials in communities where attitudes are hardened against Negroes?

One possibility is that Congress could establish standards for selecting prospective jurors and give the attorney general authority to initiate civil suits if these standards are not met.

Strike Threat Perils Viet Jets, Space Shots

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Machinists at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. are preparing for a strike at midnight that would halt production of Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam and could delay two Gemini space shots.

Reject Contract Offer

Some 11,000 members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists jammed a downtown auditorium Wednesday and overwhelmingly rejected a company contract offer.

The rejection is tantamount to a strike vote. The McDonnell plant has 35,000 employees, 17,000 of them machinists.

A strike would immediately halt production of the Phantoms, used by the Navy, Air Force and Marines in Viet Nam. About 50 now are on McDonnell production lines.

The walkout also may reach to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where about 500 McDonnell employees, including some machinists, are working on the launch of Gemini 6 and 7, scheduled for Dec. 4 and 13.

Machinists at the Cape voted to accept the contract proposal, but union officials said the local is closely aligned with the St. Louis local and might be tied in with what is done in St. Louis.

William Rollins, president of the union's District 9 said in St. Louis pickets will be set up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis and at the Cape.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston said the effect of a strike on the Gemini launchings could not be forecast "until we know its extent and duration."

Capital Concerned

Eugene Glover, machinist union vice president, said the union must "take into account the situation at the Cape."

He said he would confer today in a three-way telephone hook-up with union officials in Washington and representatives of the Cape Kennedy members.

One of the points to be discussed, he said, is a possible dispensation from striking for machinists working on the Gemini launchings.

Federal officials in Washington expressed their concern.

Pact Expired Nov. 7

The machinists at McDonnell walked out for four days last week in a wildcat strike after becoming angry at union leaders. They finally agreed to return to work after union leaders promised to sanction a strike Wednesday if a contract was not approved. The old pact expired Nov. 7.

McDonnell offered a nine-cent-an-hour wage increase in each of the next three years and improved fringe benefits and working conditions.

The union says its average wage is $2.77 an hour, $1 under some other major aircraft producers.

The company rejected other union demands, which included modification of a no-strike clause, loosening of a wage freeze to permit qualified em-

Rescue Vessels Speed To Norwegian Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—While a Coast Guard plane circled overhead, rescue vessels sped today to a Norwegian cargo ship which called for help when 650 miles southwest of San Francisco.

The ship, the 552-foot Martha Bakke, radioed she was endangered by shifting deck cargo.

A Coast Guard plane from San Francisco said at daybreak the 11,440-gross-ton ship did not appear to be sinking or taking on water, although she was not under way.

Guard headquarters here said the main danger apparently came from 12-foot Pacific Ocean waves, the result of a storm off the California Coast.

The closest merchant ship was about 10 hours away—150 miles from the Martha Bakke.

LaPorte Friend Says Many Plan Similar Deaths

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—A friend of Roger LaPorte, young pacifist who took his life by setting himself afire earlier this month, says psychiatrists in New York City are trying to prevent a rash of such cases.

LaPorte, 22, who formerly lived in Tupper Lake, near here, died in New York City 33 hours after setting himself afire in front of the United Nations Building in protest of U.S. fighting in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Judy Bundy Schaeffer, formerly of Saranac Lake, is a nurse in psychiatry at Bellevue Hospital in New York and went to LaPorte at the hospital as soon as she learned of his condition. She had known him before she was graduated from high school here in 1961.

She told the Adirondack Enterprise, daily newspaper here, that a major effort was being made at Bellevue to stave off a rash of such deaths. She mentioned specifically that the hospital had prevented the death of a young woman member of a pacifist group of which LaPorte also was a member.

The woman and others in the group had been maintaining a vigil for LaPorte, and the woman went on a hunger strike, then threatened to set herself afire, Mrs. Schaeffer said. Friends took the woman to Bellevue in time, however.

Ships Ply Welland

WELLAND, Ont. (AP)—Ships began to move through the Welland Canal today, ending a delay of up to 29 hours caused by high winds.

Of 72 ships, 28 were awaiting clearance up the canal from Port Weller and 29 for downward passage from Port Colborne. There were 15 ships in the canal waiting to proceed.

Twenty-one of the vessels were ocean-going ships attempting to return to Montreal before the St. Lawrence Seaway closes Dec. 3 for the winter.

Seek Iraqi Engineer, Estranged Wife Dead

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Police are searching for Vincent Asfar, an Iraqi engineer, whose estranged wife was found dead in her downtown apartment here.

Mrs. Barjoui Beteryan Asfar, 55, the victim, was a chemical research professor at the American University in Beirut.

Police said she was found in a pool of blood with 10 stab wounds and strangulation marks on her neck.

The police said Asfar was known to have arrived in Lebanon last Saturday, and there was no record he had left the country.

The Asfar's son, Gabriel, 21, is a senior at Hamilton College

Alarm Sounded at Ward's

At 10:30 p. m. Wednesday the sheriff's office received an alarm from the Montgomery Ward store on Albany Avenue. Officers were sent to investigate and state police were also notified. ## Texas Meeting

A big Texas handshake from the country's number one Texan, President Lyndon B. Johnson, greets Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick upon his recent arrival at the LBJ Ranch. Rep. Resnick brought some of the problems of the 28th Congressional District to the "Texas White House" where he discussed them with the President's Legislative Counsel, Jake Jacobson, and other members of the President's staff. The Congressman discussed legislation he is planning on several key issues concerning this area. One was to extend the length of SBA loans from 10 to 20 or 25 years to ease the tremendous financial burden now being carried by many resorts and small businesses. In addition, he explained the difficulties retired persons are having in meeting school and local tax payments, together with various methods for solving this problem. Congressman Resnick also pressed for a speedy decision on the transportation of Christmas gift-packages to American servicemen in South Viet Nam. "I was most impressed with the warm reception I received," Congressman Resnick said, "and the serious attention that was given to these problems. As a result of this meeting, I expect to intro-

Ministers Set Up Work Units

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere set up working groups today following a strong call by Brazil's president for them to update inter-American machinery to combat infiltration and subversion.
"It is urgent that we, the members of the inter-American system, rethink our concepts and preconceptions in the light of the new realities," President Humberto Castello Branco declared in formally opening the special inter-American conference Wednesday night.
The Brazilian chief chided past hemisphere parleys for "academically mulling over principles and provisions that, when a dispute comes up, we do not show any inclination to obey."

Stoutly defending the intervention in the Dominican Republic, Castello Branco said the hemisphere defense system was devised in the early postwar years to protect against direct armed aggression. Now aggression threatens more subtly "through infiltration and subversion" and "it is therefore imperative that we take a new look at the concepts of aggression and intervention," he said.
His keynote rang harmoniously with a theme sounded by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk after Washington ordered troops into Santo Domingo to save lives and prevent a Communist takeover. Of the five Latin-American nations which sent troops to join duce several new bills shortly after Congress reconvenes." The Congressman was flown both ways between the Austin airport and the LBJ Ranch in the Presidential helicopter.

the Americans in the peace force formed by the Organization of American States, Brazil sent the biggest number.
Rusk, heading the U. S. delegation to the conference, declined public comment on the Brazilian's proposal at this time. He planned to deliver the American speech early next week, after some other delegates have had their say.
Neither Castello Branco nor the U. S. delegation have proposed that this conference create a standby OAS force to tackle future Dominican-type crises.

Grand Jury Action

Kingston state police said today that Donald Van Valkenburg, 29, of Shandaken, was arrested by BCI Investigator Fred Grunewald on a charge of prohibited discharge of a firearm. The defendant posted $50 bail and was released by Justice of the Peace Edward W. France, Town of Shandaken, pending grand jury action. The arrest was made on a warrant issued by the peace justice.

Shark Fisherman

VANCOUVER (AP) — Len Righton doesn't fit the usual picture of a man living in retirement. He fishes for small sharks in Vancouver Harbor and fills his larder with about 200 a year. "The meat's tasty and boneless," he says. "Sharks haven't a bone in their bodies, only cartilage in the head and spinal column. They're far more nourishing than cod."

BERRY'S WORLD

"Somehow, you just don't impress me as the 'I've already got my Christmas shopping done' type!"

When modern recipes call for brown sugar, the term "firmly packed" follows. To measure the sugar this way, fill the cup (or fraction of a cup) with the brown sugar and as you do so press it down so tightly and firmly that when turned out it holds its shape; level off the measure with a spatula.

What does it take to challenge the "Big 3"?

The Big 4

"from your friendly Giant-Killer... that's me, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer."

When you challenge the "Big 3" you've got to have what it takes. Your friendly Giant-Killer's got the Big 4: four new lines of '66 cars with quality built in, not added on. Want to be surprised? Join the thousands who've already seen their friendly Giant-Killer and discover what all the excitement's about.

Meet the Rogue. New razzle-dazzle Rambler (yes, Rambler!) outperforms every other car in its class. ("Do Rogues really come with rally stripes?" "No, but with the big new engine they drive that way.") More standard horsepower than Corvair! Valiant! Falcon! See the Rogue and the eight other Rambler Americans... convertible, sedans, and wagons included.

2.

This is Rebel. New zoomy, roomy Rambler doesn't cramp your style, or your legs, or your family, or your pocketbook. Has surprises you won't find in Fairlane, Chevelle, Belvedere, Coronet. And you've got your choice of two 6's... three V-8's: 232 to 327 cubic inches. * And wait till you see the seven other '66 Rambler Classic sedans, wagons, convertible at your friendly Giant-Killer.

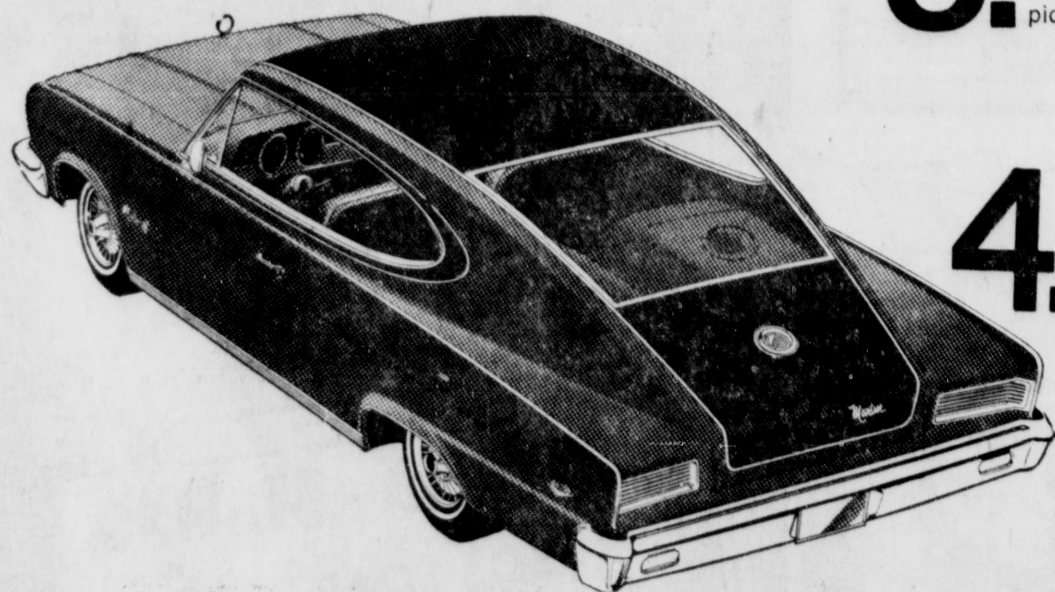

3.

The DPL by American Motors. Now you can have your first luxury car — while you're still young enough to enjoy it. Has coil-spring seats, like Cadillac. Double-Safety brakes, like Cadillac. 4.

Marlin '66 by American Motors. Full-size, family-size sports fastback seats six in comfort. Even with bucket seats. * How? Ask your friendly Giant-Killer. Be sure to ask him about all those optional V-8 power plants available in the Marlin, too.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay was reported today to have selected Robert Price as a deputy mayor in his administration.

The New York Herald Tribune said formal announcement of the choice was expected to be made today.

Price confirmed Wednesday night that he had agreed to accept the post, the newspaper said.

Some sources said that Lindsay also would name Timothy J. Costello, a defeated running mate, as a deputy mayor. But Lindsay said this speculation was "unfounded for and premature."

Price, a 33-year-old lawyer, managed Lindsay's four successful campaigns for Congress and his campaign for mayor this year.

Corneal Transplants

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Association of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said "This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another, totally blind person may feel it's a success if he can see well enough to get around."

Krumville

KRUMVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Miller spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson spent last weekend in New York visiting their children.

The Ladies Society held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Alex M. Clemens. Thirteen members attended the meeting and social hour. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vollmer Sunday afternoon.

Motorists Cited After 2 Hurt in Highland Area

Three motorists were cited and two persons were injured as the result of traffic accidents Wednesday night in the Highland area.

Trooper Daniel Devine reported Ronald Joseph Locasio, 16, of South Ohioville Road, New Paltz, was driving a car south on that road at 6:40 p. m. when the car went out of control and hit a tree.

Locasio, who was cited for failure to keep to the right and operating a motor vehicle without supervision, was taken by ambulance to St. Francis' Hospital after he complained of a possible back injury and lacerations of the back of the neck. The youth's mother, Mrs. Helen Locasio, was summoned on a charge of permitting him to drive without supervision. The boy has a learner's permit.

At 7 p. m. yesterday cars operated by Lillian S. Van Hoesen, 37, of South Street, Marlboro, and Dominick Affuso, also of Marlboro, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Grand and Bloom Street, Marlboro. The woman complained of chest bruises. She was cited, according to Trooper Devine, for passing a stop sign.

LBJ, Princess Dance

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as President Johnson launched the dancing with Princess Margaret at a candlelit White House party honoring the royal British visitor and her husband.

The gay, informal festivities, also marking the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary — went on until 2 a. m. and the frug and waltz shared equal billing in the East Ballroom.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, were enjoying themselves "wildly," said lady-in-waiting Elizabeth Cavendish.

Bar Stool Bliss

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Charles Turnbull and Marian Bolton picked a tavern for their wedding because "it was very appropriate to our good times together here." On top of that, no one had to go very far when it was announced that drinks were on the house after the "I does" were exchanged.

BUTTERSCOTCH PRALINE COOKIES will delight servicemen.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Mail Christmas Cookies Now

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There will be more boys in the armed services this Christmas than last year. Many are far away, but their thoughts, you may be sure, are of home. You know what a box of cookies from home will mean to them during the holidays. So bake them and mail them today to make certain they will arrive in time for Christmas.

BUTTERSCOTCH PRALINE COOKIES

2 6-ounce packages (1 cup each) buttered praline morsels, divided
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Melt 1 package of buttered praline morsels and butter together in top of double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat; stir in brown sugar and cool 5 minutes. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; stir into buttered morsel mixture. Stir in nuts. Spread in 350-degree oven 25 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack; peel off wax paper. Sprinkle remaining package of buttered praline morsels over surface of cookies. Let stand about 5 minutes until buttered morsels are firm. Spread in 13x9x2-inch baking pan. Bake in terscotch softens. Spread softened butterscotch over cookies; cool 15 to 20 minutes; cut into bars or squares. Garnish with pieces of candied cherry and citron. Yields two dozen 2-inch squares or 32 3x1-inch bars.

Covered With Salt?
NEW DELHI (AP) — Trans- port ministry officials found Bombay port customs officers still haven't cleared seven diesel tractors and 800 crates unloaded from ships in 1958.

Luci Wears Diamond
WASHINGTON (AP) — A new gold and diamond ring sparkled on Luci Johnson's third finger, left hand, as she danced cheek-to-cheek with boyfriend Pat Nugent at a White House party. The ring drew new speculation that the President's daughter, 18, is engaged to marry Nugent, 23. But the White House again would make no comment and Luci, herself, couldn't be reached.

Luci, in a strapless white tulle evening dress, her hair bouffant, had a gay time at the dinner-dance Wednesday night in honor of Britain's Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon.

Education Week Activities Are Well Attended

American Education Week was recognized in the Saugerties Central Schools in many ways. Parents and interested citizens attended in greater numbers than ever before, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, with a total count of 2,757 visitors during the week. During the regular school day 1,147 took advantage of the invitation to observe classes during normal operating conditions and 1,610 attended evening programs.

The number of visitors recorded at each school was as follows: Main Street, 691; Grant D. Morse, 765; Glasco, 263; Malden, 90; Mt. Marion, 231; Junior-Senior High, 715.

During the evening programs girls from Sigma Club and Leaders Club served as guides in the high school and upper class pupils in the elementary schools. A group of parents provided an innovation at the Main Street School when they volunteered to serve as "baby sitters" for other parents. The Parent-Teachers Association provided refreshments at all schools under the chairmanship of the following: Junior-Senior High, Mrs. Roy Helmsmoor; Main Street, Mrs. Richard Geuss; Grant D. Morse, Mrs. Donald Melius; Mt. Marion, Mrs. John Fitzgerald; Glasco, Mrs. Clifford Davis.

Mrs. Ralph Ramondi expressed her thanks to all the mothers for their cooperation in providing cakes, cookies and serving as hostesses.

Art materials were on display at all schools. During the evening program teachers explained their aims and objectives and procedures. Parents attending the open house at the Junior-Senior High School were given class schedules of their children and followed through their program on an abbreviated schedule.

Tuesday's "black out" required postponement of the program at Main Street and Glasco Schools to Wednesday evening. After visiting all elementary schools on Wednesday evening Dr. Arnold stated that he was more than pleased with the number of parents attending and the interest which they demonstrated.

Majestic Would Offer Galeville Site for Atom - Smasher Plant

The Ulster County Planning Board has been authorized by resolution of the Board of Supervisors to make application to the Federal authorities to have the Galeville Airport in the Town of Shawangunk transferred to Ulster County as an Industrial Park when it is declared surplus.

At the November meeting of the board of supervisors Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward, chair- n of the board's Industrial Development Committee, offered the resolution seeking authority for the Planning Board to make efforts to obtain the complex of nearly 800 acres together with a large brick building and the concrete surfaced runways for the county.

The resolution was adopted. It was also suggested by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, that the county should offer this site to the Atomic Energy Commission which is considering a number of locations for an $348 million Federal atomic plant.

Majestic pointed out that Central Hudson, which serves this area, had recently announced through President Leland F. Sillin Sr., that Central Hudson could supply the necessary power to a 4,000 acre site at Hunter, Greene County, which has made a bid for the plant. This same power could be made available to the Galeville site.

The Hunter site was inspected by Federal, State, local and Central Hudson men last Friday.

It has been estimated that construction of an atomic energy plant as proposed by the Federal government would give jobs to some 2,000 persons.

In a report to the Board of Supervisors under date of Oct. 25, the Ulster County Planning Board Transportation Committee and Industrial Development Committee, reported last June it was learned that the Communications Center of the First Army, located at Galeville Airport in the Town of Shawangunk, will be transferred to Fort Meade, Md. Immediately efforts were made to ascertain if the

Fuel Cells Pose Threat to Launch Date of Gemini

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Trouble with power-producing fuel cells threatens to delay the Dec. 4 launch date of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Sources said any postponement probably would be for two days. There was no indication when a decision would be made.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration official said there was a possibility of keeping the Dec. 4 schedule by working on Thanksgiving and weekends, normally off days.

A NASA spokesman said that during a test Tuesday, pressure apparently built up and forced liquid hydrogen into the two fuel cells, which combine hydrogen and oxygen to produce electrical power. The spokesman said the cells may not have been harmed, but to be on the safe side for the intended 14-day mission, the decision was made to replace them.

If Gemini 7 is delayed, the companion Gemini 6 flight, to be launched nine days after Gemini 7, also would be postponed.

MISS AMELIA D. NAREL

Panel Discusses Math

The second scheduled presentation of educational topics was made to the Ontario Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting on November 15, at the West Hurley Elementary School. The topic "Modern Mathematics in the Elementary School" was presented by a panel composed of Mrs. Helen Turck, Mrs. Ethel Donaldson, Miss JoAnne Bianco and Mrs. Marion Bilsh, elementary teachers in the Ontario District. Ronald P. Vanni, Director of Elementary Education at Ontario, was moderator of the panel.

Mrs. Helen Turck discussed the need for modern math and described the history of its development at Ontario. Going back to 1960 and initial trials with Cuisenaire rods with kindergarten classes, she traced its progress to its present status with 1600 elementary youngsters and 54 teachers involved. The extensive inservice training program for teachers was also discussed.

The curriculum development program in mathematics was presented by Mrs. Ethel Donaldson. She reported that a curriculum committee began work in the district in September, 1962. Consultants from the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster County were employed by the Ontario Board to assist the faculty in its work. Over a three-year period, the committee studied all of the experimental and commercially produced modern mathematics materials available. Their recommendations, of the Mathematics Laboratory Materials and Cuisenaire rods at the primary grade level and the Greater Cleveland Program at the intermediate grade level with supplements developed by the committee has been implemented in all elementary grades of the District beginning this school year.

Miss JoAnne Bianco and Marion Bilsh illustrate the difference between a traditional and modern math approach by giving demonstrations of teaching procedures. Using the Cuisenaire rods, Miss Bianco developed a lesson on fractions for primary grade children. Bilsh developed a lesson on multiplication and division of decimals for intermediate grade youngsters. He used as a teaching tool the overhead projector with transparencies and worksheets. In concluding the presentation, Vanni emphasized the tremendous task of implementing a new program such as modern math in the schools. The training of teachers and the selection and up-grading of materials require a great deal of time and money and are a never-ending process which require systematic evaluation and revision.

A display of modern math materials and teaching aids was exhibited in conjunction with the presentation.

The next regular meeting of the Ontario Board of Education will be held at the Ontario High School on December 20, at 8 p. m. The educational topic to be presented at that meeting will be "The High School Guidance Program."

Opera House Asks Help

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Opera House says it is in a financial crisis and has called on the British government for relief.

The opera house now receives a government subsidy of $2.45 for each $2.80 it takes in. During the year 1964-65 it received a subsidy of $2,153,570 for the opera and ballet.

The Earl of Drogheda, chairman of the board of the opera house, said Wednesday costs have risen so sharply that the estimated deficit for 1966-67 is given as $679,000.

Rotron Announces Service Awards Plan for Workers

Rotron Manufacturing Company of Woodstock, designers and manufacturers of electric cooling devices, instituted a company-wide service award program for all its employees recently.

Under the new program, employees will receive an award after five, 10, 15, 20 and 25 years of service. The five-year award is a gold pin or pendant bearing the official trade-mark of the company. The 10, 15, 20 and 25 year awards bear a precious stone of sapphire, ruby, emerald, or diamond in ascending order of importance, added to the trademark.

The company was only begun in 1947; therefore, there were no employees eligible at this time for the 20 or 25 year awards. Eight employees were eligible to receive their 15-year awards. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. van Rijn, Charles Steele Jr., Carl Dedy, David Carlson, Laszlo Sima, Nicholas Gantner and Otto Doehler. One hundred twenty employees received the 10-year award for service over 10 and less than 15 years of employment; 185 received the five-year award for employment over five and less than 10 years with the company.

All employees received their awards from Mr. and Mrs. van Rijn personally, who congratulated each employee and thanked them for their years of faithful service.

Count on obtaining, from a medium-size lemon, about 3 tablespoons of lemon juice and about 1½ teaspoons of grated rind.

RECEIVE AWARDS—Fifteen-year employees of Rotron Manufacturing Company, Woodstock, receiving awards under the new company service award program are (seated l-r) Laszlo Sima, Mrs. J. C. van Rijn, Mr. van Rijn, Charles

Steele Jr.; (standing) Nicholas Gantner, Carl Dedy, David Carlson and Otto Doehler. The program which was announced last week will honor employees for five, ten, fifteen, twenty and twenty-five years of service.

Bishop's Statement On Students' Protest

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Bishop William A. Scully said today the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany "is not in alliance with or dominated by" any political organization.

The bishop's statement appeared in the diocesan newspaper, The Evangelist, in the wake of protests by students and others over what they said was curtailment of the social service activities of a Franciscan priest teaching Siena College in suburban Loudonville.

Referring to action against the Rev. Bonaventure O'Brien, the bishop said the decision was "an administration" one, for which the reasons "must be left to God and the conscience of the bishop."

Father Bonaventure has been active in social service work in Albany's South End, a predominantly Negro area. He recently attacked the city's Democratic administration concerning what he said were failures in connection with the federal anti-poverty program.

The bishop said the diocese "has demonstrated Christ-like concern for needy persons." He said recent demonstrations on behalf of Father Bonaventure had injured community spirit and stirred up dissension. He appealed to "all persons" to now work together for the good of the city's "poor and needy."

Father Bonaventure was directed by Franciscan superiors last week to limit his activities to his teaching at Siena and to call off his speaking engagements, the student senate of the Roman Catholic school reported students scheduled a "teach-in" this week on the issue, but cancelled it until a "clarification" was given by church authorities.

Physicians Halt Heart Monitoring Of Eisenhower

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower passed another milestone on the road toward recovery from his heart attack today as doctors disclosed they were no longer monitoring his heart with a special electronic machine.

The electronic device had been in constant service since the 75-year-old five star general was brought to the hospital here.

In a statement this morning, Eisenhower was described as having spent a "very good night."

Man Reported Fair

John Van Ness, 64, of 58 Meadow Street, who was given emergency oxygen treatment after he was taken suddenly ill at home Wednesday night, was reported in fair condition today at the Benedictine Hospital. Police headquarters was notified at 8:43 p. m., and Officers Louis Sapp, Joseph Kivlan and Howard Kelly, and a Doctor's ambulance were dispatched to the house.

Hanson started with the corporation Jan. 15, 1961 after retiring from the International Business Machines Corp. in Poughkeepsie where he worked in quality control for 10 years. John A. Smithers, who made the announcement, said the promotion was in line with his increased responsibilities and duties with the expanding firm. Hanson resides in Hyde Park with his wife, Ruth.

Boy Is Unharmed After Ransom of $45,000 Is Paid

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A 13-year-old Tacoma boy, son of a wholesale grocery company executive, was kidnapped by two men Wednesday, held for nine hours and released unharmed after payment of $45,000 ransom.

Sheriff Jack Berry disclosed the kidnapping today after Charles Hyde Jr., was back safely with his family.

Berry said the boy was abducted about 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The ransom was paid by the father, Charles Hyde Sr., president of the West Coast Grocery Co. here.

The sheriff called a news conference to release details of the kidnapping. He said his entire force had been assigned to the search for the kidnapers with the FBI assisting.

When a recipe calls for a "dash" of a seasoning, add less than ¼ teaspoon.

Coming down with a bad cold, a man slumped at his desk, clasped his head in his hands, sniffed, and complained. Man—How can a man feel so rotten from a disease that doesn't even have a National foundation? The teacher was having her trials, and finally wrote the mother: Your son is the brightest boy in my class, but he is also the most mischievous. What shall I do? The reply came duly: Do as you please, I am having my own troubles with my father. Officer (to Company of newly recruited WACs)—Remember, if you are ever tempted to do anything that would be a disgrace to your uniform, take it off! Mrs. Brown—Do you know, dear, I was reading the other day that an ostrich can see very little, and can digest anything. Mrs. Smith—What an ideal husband! Begging-You-to-Stay-Alive Dept. Get into the habit of buckling your seat belt before you start the car is a habit that could save your life. Studies reveal an estimated 5,000 persons would be spared from auto deaths each year if belts were worn regularly. Women's styles may change but their designs remain the same. A wife, says Uncle Buckle, is a woman who resents it if her husband speaks while she's interrupting. Husband—I suppose you only married me because I had a little money. Wife—Paul, that's unfair. You know I'd have married you if you'd had twice as much. Harry—Let's get our wives together tonight and have a big evening. Larry—O.K., but where shall we leave them. If you would know the value of money, go try to borrow some; for he that goes a-borrowing goes a-sorrowing—a traffic jam by honking the horn. Another good way to save money is to forget who you borrowed it from. Beggar—Have you got a nickel for a cup of coffee. Student—Oh, I'll manage somehow, thank you. Trying to solve the country's problems with Congressional oratory is like trying to untangle the east a favor. Go west, young man, and do the east a favor.

Alum. Workers Turn Back Union Plan

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Workers at the Alcan Aluminum Corp. plant at nearby Scriba have rejected again proposals that they be represented by a union.

For the second time in 15 months, a company official reported Wednesday, the majority of the work force voted against joining any union. The employees' will was expressed in a bargaining election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Of the 230 employees voting, the company official said, 55 voted for the United Steelworkers of America, 47 for the Aluminum Workers International Union and 127 for no union. One ballot was challenged.

The majority had disapproved union representation in a similar election in August 1964.

Ulster Garden Club Concludes Meetings For This Season

The Ulster Garden Club held its final meeting of the year on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the home of Mrs. Allan Hanstein, 43 Crown Street, Kingston. Included in the agenda were annual reports and committee appointments announced by Mrs. Burton Davis, president. Other officers for the coming year will be Mrs. Robert Moseley, vice president, Mrs. Alfred Schmid, secretary and Mrs. Mortimer Downer, treasurer.

The past year has been marked by continuation of the project of restoring and amplifying the colonial gardens at the Senate House. This work made possible by the Ulster Garden Club's winning in 1964 the Founders Fund Award of the Garden Club of America, was started in 1964 and will be completed by next summer. Also the Memorial Tree Planting project has gone on apace with many more trees being planted along the Kingston streets this fall. A permanent record of donors to the Memorial Tree Fund and those memorialized is on display at the Senate House Museum. This year the Ulster Garden Club has also placed many floral displays in the Senate House for the enjoyment of sight-seers. Mrs. William Fuller, who will be chairman of the International Flower Show Committee, announced that the club will provide several hostesses for the show to be held next March. Also, the Ulster Garden Club is planning a House and Garden Tour to be held sometime in the late Spring.

The program concluded with an interesting report on the zone meeting of the Garden Club of America, held in Cedarhurst, Long Island, and attended by Mrs. Burton Davis and Mrs. Robert Moseley. Following adjournment, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the Mes. George Pratt, Gerard Betz, and Sherman Hasbrouck.

Union Center Area Juniors Host Open House for Mothers

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 159 entertained their mothers at an open house in the Union Center Community Building Saturday afternoon. Following refreshments prepared by girls working on their cook book, the troop presented a varied program beginning with a candlelight investiture and rededication ceremony. Troop leader, Mrs. William Daum welcomed the mothers, and sisters of the Girl Scouts and explained the Promise Projects which the troop will be deciding on during the next few months. In conjunction with the theme, Girl Scouting—A Promise in Action, the troop will join Girl Scouts throughout the nation making active promises to themselves and to their communities in a great Promise of Service.

During the candlelight ceremony, the troop officers, assisted by Mrs. Daum and assistant leaders Mrs. William Granitto and Mrs. Robert Tremper, interpreted the Girl Scout Promise and Laws which will be the basis for the Promise Projects. At this time, new Junior Scouts were formally welcomed into the troop and awarded their numerals and crests: Kathy Ashcroft, Arlita Barringer, Laura Coffey, Audrey Fredrigill, Diane Genthler, Luisa Granitto, Leona Gromoll, Sandra Holt, Susan Jordan, Jane Kirk, Dorothy Miller, Annette Romano, and Elaine Wiltzie.

Membership stars for one year service were awarded to Barbara Aho, Beth Combs, Gretchen Daum, Mildred Sheffield, Laura Russo, Mary Jane Freer, Cynthia Kirk, Susan Kinsch, Gail Tremper, and Darlene Wiltzie.

Officers installed for the coming year were Patrol Leaders Audrey Fredrigill, Beth Combs, and Mary Jane Freer; Assistant Patrol Leaders Laura Coffey, Laura Russo, and Cynthia Kirk; Troop Treasurer, Darlene Wiltzie, and Troop Scribe, Gail Tremper.

For a start on the Promise Projects, the troop has elected to collect items from friends and neighbors for patients at the Wassica State School. Christmas gifts will also be made by the troop. A work session will be held the Saturday after Thanksgiving at the Union Center Community Building at 1:30 p. m.

Designers Cover Up Barely-There Bikinis

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Bathing suits for next year emerge bolder than ever in the California designers' preview, so bare, in fact, that they're covered by everything from carpenters' aprons to Tahitian trousers.

There was little left to the imagination in the barely-there bikinis and clinging and cut-out bathing suits displayed at the California fashion creators' showing of resort and spring wear Wednesday.

Imagination, instead, concentrated on how to cover the swim suits.

Catalina showed a denim carpenter's apron over a brief matching bikini. A cable knit overblouse topped a matching swim suit.

But most popular of all were the knee-length, ruffled trousers variously called long jammies and surf britches.

The trousers, sometimes covering bikini trunks, at other times paired only with brief bikini bras, were patterned from the surfer trousers which first became popular in Tahiti, a Catalina spokesman said.

They turned up in the Cole of California collection as well. They date back, a Catalina spokesman said, to the roomy bathing trunks male surfers used for comfort in riding the Pacific Ocean waves.

They come striped, flowered, and polka-dotted.

The results: Windbreaker jackets in everything from waterproof fabric to cotton priests; laced trunks and cotton-knit surfer shirts for both beach and campus wear.

The bare look, spurred by the topless swim suit nearly two years ago, inspired a few daring numbers in last year's swim suit collection. This year, however, a suit which was merely lacking straps, midriff or sides, is sacs all three.

INVITATIONS TO RECEPTION

Q: When sending invitations to a large reception, would it be permissible to request guests to reply only if they will be unable to accept? Not only would it save those who are coming from having to write a note of acceptance, but it would also save the hostess from having to open and read a great many replies. If this is acceptable, how should it be noted on the invitations?

A: It would be most unusual and really not proper, but if you wish to do it, it could be done by adding to your R.s.v.p. the words, "only if unable to accept."

A Widow's Name and Wedding Ring

Q: I was married almost twenty years when my husband died suddenly from a heart attack. I loved him very much and his death was a great shock. Now to add to my distress, a friend tells me that I have to give up his name and also discontinue wearing my wedding ring. Will you please tell me if she is right about this?

A: No, she is not right. You not only may but, correctly, should continue to call yourself Mrs. John Smith. You also continue to wear your wedding ring.

Dress for a Wedding

Q: My husband and I have been invited to an evening wedding and reception. I am going to wear a floor length evening dress. May my husband wear a black or navy blue suit, or must he wear a tuxedo? Formal dress is optional.

A: As you will be wearing an evening dress, correctly, your husband should wear a tuxedo.

Troop 12 Hike

Boy Scouts of Troop 12 hiked to Jockey Hill last Saturday under the leadership of Senior Patrol Leader Brian Devine, Patrol Leaders Peter Wells and Karl Schlatter, Assistant Patrol Leaders Russell Arronis and James Fabiano and supervised by Committeeman Jim Gemmell. A report by S.P.L. Devine follows:

"At 9 a. m. Saturday 16 members and one committeeman of Troop 12 (and two dogs) gathered at the stadium for the troop hike. We went out Route 28 to the Sawkill Road, hiking about a mile before cutting into the woods. We hiked cross-country until we reached our destination which was Jockey Hill, and proceeded to clear our area for fires, started to cook lunch which was fun because we could exchange food among ourselves, and cooked the way we wanted

"After lunch we cleaned the area so fine it looked as if it was never touched. When we completed this project, we had a stalking, trail blazing and trailing game, which lasted a couple of hours. This was followed by a good game of 'Capture the Flag' which was enjoyed by all, after which we proceeded on our return hike and reached the stadium around 5 o'clock."

Ulster Community College Cagers Slate Debut on Dec. 3

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

John Nolan, who suffered an untimely death several days ago in an automobile accident, was a youngster who enjoyed every moment of his far too short life.

He was a basketball and baseball star at Saugerties High, went to Dutchess Community College for two years and made friends wherever he went.

PROMISE IN BASEBALL

While at Dutchess, Nolan attracted the eye of the veteran Fritz Jordan, area scout for the Milwaukee Braves. Fritz liked the way John fired the fast ball and he recommended that the Braves sign him to a contract.

Nolan played in the minor leagues. Like most speedball hurlers, he had control trouble. However, he loved the game and last season, John played for Jordan's Interstate League entry at Millerton and in the Kingston City Baseball League.

"The Boston Red Sox were very much interested in giving Nolan a tryout this year," Jordan said. The lad was outstanding in the Interstate League and it was nothing to see him fan 17 or 18 batters in a nine inning game.

"The only reason he was cut by the Milwaukee organization was because they reduced their farm clubs. John was the last to go and I feel the Braves would have regretted the move," Jordan said.

Our condolences go to his parents and his friends, of which he had many. When baseball season arrives in 1966, we will miss the good-looking lad from Saugerties. He could really throw aspirin tablets up to home plate.

CAGE COACHES CAN TALK

Basketball coaches in the upcoming season will be extended the privilege of securing the attention of the floor official in certain specified situations in which a correctable error may be prevented or rectified.

This provision does not, however, authorize a coach to question any judgement decision. A coach is permitted to appeal to the officials only when the ball is dead and the clock is stopped.

The coach must appeal to the scorer at the scorer's table, at which time the scorer will signal the official and a coach of each team may be present.

Despite this slight rule change, the coach is still required to remain seated on the bench except during certain situations. He may leave the bench while the clock is running only to confer with substitutes, or to signal players to request a time-out, or to perform other necessary coaching responsibilities.

What does the above mean? Nothing, except that the basketball rules committee is trying to add more confusion to the already confused coaches, players and spectators.

Devlin Sustains Ankle Fracture

MONTICELLO — Franklin E. Devlin, Monticello Raceway President and General Manager, will be away from his duties at the Catskill Mountains plant and as president of Harness Tracks of America for a period of approximately two months. The Mighty M prexy suffered a fractured left ankle, severely torn muscles in the right leg and lacerations and contusions of both legs in a recent automobile accident near his home in Monticello.

Devlin was not expected to be hampered by the fracture but subsequently found the torn muscles in his right leg made it impossible to walk. His doctors have ordered him to confine his activities to bed and a wheel chair until both legs are completely healed. "The doctors say it will be some two months before I can get around again," said Devlin.

Big Red to Pass

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell quarterback Marty Sponaugle is limbering up his passing arm for the Big Red's Thanksgiving Day football encounter with Pennsylvania.

Sponaugle concentrated on passes in practice Wednesday under the eye of coach Tom Harp, who said a sound aerial offense could carry Cornell to victory in the game at Philadelphia.

Mike Perry Has 10 Candidates Getting Ready

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Mike Perry, who learned his basketball at Siena College under the great Dan Cunha, is hoping some of the veteran coach's magic will rub off on his Senators from Ulster County Community College.

The Kingston native will be coaching his first team at the local college and he is putting 10 candidates through their paces as they prepare for the opener of a rugged 21-game schedule on Friday Dec. 3 against Fashion Institute.

In conjunction with the debut of the Senators, the school will hold a pep rally on Saturday, Nov. 27 at the Municipal Auditorium. Team captains will be elected that evening and players will be introduced.

As part of the opener, the Senators will play the first game of a doubleheader, beginning at 7 o'clock. The Harlem Globetrotters will participate in the second attraction.

High Scorers Return

Paul (Boots) Buytkins of Saugerties and George Druttman, who played his high school basketball at Wallkill, are returning starters from last year's team. They figure to give the Senators some good scoring punch as they were consistently in double figures last season.

The other eight boys are new but several are well-known in the area. At 6-5, Cliff Schoonmaker is the tallest player on the team. He starred for coach Chick Meehan at Rondout Valley and should be an asset to the Senators.

Jim Woodward, a 5-7 playmaker from Marlboro, has been impressive in practice. He starred in the backcourt for the Dukes.

Bruce Ackert, Bill Egan and Tony Toney are veterans of Kingston CYO ball. Toney also saw brief action with the Kingston High Jaycees.

Others on the roster are Bruce Erlichman of Queens, Clarence MacIntosh of Margaretville and Bradley Myer of Germantown.

In Top Shape

Perry isn't predicting the outcome of the coming season but he expects the Senators will be in splendid shape for the opener.

"The boys have been working hard, the spirit is high and our scrimmage sessions have given us hopes," Perry said.

His opponents will know they've been in a ball game," he says, the way he looks at the coming season. He learned his trade from a master and if a little bit of the knowledge rubs off on the players, look for the Senators to make some noise.

Hawk Superstars Rip Rangers, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were starting a hockey club and could choose between having Bobby Hull or Stan Mikita as your first player, who would you pick?

Billy Reay, who has the great good fortune of having both of them playing for his Chicago Black Hawks, grinned at the question.

"I wouldn't choose between them," said Reay. "I like it just the way it is with both of them on my side."

The two superstars picked the New York Rangers to pieces Wednesday night, guiding the Hawks to a 5-3 victory and moving Chicago back into a first-place tie with Montreal in the only National Hockey League game played.

Seeking New Image

Retired Air Force General Is New Baseball Commissioner

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's new public image began forming today behind the leadership of a new commissioner — a retired three-star Air Force general who delights in being called Pvt. Spike.

He is William D. Eckert, 56, of Washington, D.C., a trim, sharp-visaged man with thinning steel-gray hair and the build of a high school football halfback, 160 pounds, 5 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

His unanimous recommendation Wednesday to the major leagues' 20 club owners ended a six-month search by a screening committee headed by John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Gailbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They started originally with about 20 men.

The soft-spoken Eckert, a much-decorated officer who retired from the service four years ago, was a surprise choice to become baseball's fourth commissioner. He follows a line that includes Judge K. M. Landis, who ruled with a mailed fist, A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was ousted by owners in favor of Ford Frick, retiring at the age of 71 after serving since 1951.

Eckert's first lieutenant will be Lee MacPhail, baseball-wise 48-year-old president of the Baltimore Orioles and son of the stormy Larry MacPhail of years ago.

Heads Cabinet

MacPhail was named to head a so-called cabinet as administrator in the commissioner's office. The new-image baseball government also will have departments encompassing player affairs, public information, television-radio and amateur baseball that includes Little League, American Legion, high school and college levels.

For the time being, at least, headquarters will remain in New York.

Whether directors of each of these branches will be named is yet to be decided, said MacPhail, who signed a three-year contract at $40,000 annually.

Eckert was given a seven-year pact at $65,000.

The new commissioner admits he knows little of the inner workings of baseball and that his first action will be to confer with as many club owners as possible and the presidents of the American and National leagues, Joe Cronin and Warren Giles.

Cronin Passes

Cronin was mentioned prominently as Frick's successor but eliminated himself Wednesday by accepting another seven-year contract as American League president at a salary increase.

Frick will be Eckert's confederate for the next three months and will aid in officiating at the baseball meetings in Miami next month. A year ago in Phoenix, Frick was successful in getting owners to restore the commissioner's power which had been clipped after the death of Landis.

He urged restoration of automatic powers in order to broaden public confidence and maintain the honesty and integrity of the game, warning that baseball was in danger of losing its coveted public image.

Kenny Toenail May Be Pivotal In Spartan-ND

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) —It doesn't sound very glamorous but the year's most glamorous college football game, Michigan State vs. Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, Ind., may be decided by a toenail.

The toenail belongs to Dick Kenney, Michigan State's barefoot placekicker from Hawaii. Everybody knows Kenney boots extra points and field goals with a nude right foot but few are aware of the great pains taken to see that the foot is in perfect shape.

The toenails, particularly the one on the big toe, are very important.

They can't be too long, Kenney says, and they can't be too short. They've got to be just right for the ball to go through the uprights.

"I make a practice of cutting my toenails on Monday," the 6-foot, 207-pound specialist from Aiea, Hawaii, said Wednesday. "That way they grow out just right by game time."

"If the toenail on my big toe is too long, it breaks off and I get a sore. If it's too short, I get a callus."

Kenny says the toe he must watch particularly is his third toe.

Woodstock Keglers' Lou. Pete Cotich hit 210-551; Harry Sussin 202-543.

Team scores: Woodstock Lanes 2, Fred's Liquor 1; Maverick Inn 2, Hutty Insurance 1; John's Barber Shop 2, Safeway Vending 1; Lee's Barber Shop 2, Newcombe Oil Co. 1; Kurta's Restaurant 2, Sgroi Builders 1.

The fundamentals included walking, side step, herringbone, step turns, kick turns, the "snow plow" and techniques of falling and rising.

Concluding the clinic was a demonstration in the use of the rope tow, followed by talk by Ralph Smith on safety and the Ski Patrol.

Instructors at the clinic were Ralph Smith, Joe Shapiro, Dick Whiston, Don DeKoskie, Dr. C. J. Goffredi, Todd Varnum, Peter Martini, Craig Smith, Chuck Nile, John Johnson, Larry Gray, Frank Almquist, Scott Douglas, Steve Levine, Jerry Wolfe, Rip Anderson and Dot Wright.

All equipment for the clinic was supplied by John McGrath, proprietor of the Four Seasons Ski Shop in Phoenicia.

Johnny Robinson AL's DP of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Robinson, a Kansas City running back who found happiness and success as a safety man, is The Associated Press choice as Defensive Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Robinson intercepted two passes, made seven tackles and knocked down a pass to play a major part in Kansas City's upset of San Diego last Sunday.

The former Louisiana State star, who originally signed with both pro leagues but was awarded to the AFL, picked off one pass on his two, saving a touchdown, and returned the second to the Chargers' 35, setting up a score.

"Johnny is undoubtedly one of the most dependable safety men in football," said Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs. "This was his best day, but he has been great all season. It's rare to see him get fooled on the same pass pattern twice in a game. He's always thinking."

Robinson passed the credit on to his defensive line for pitting the big rush on the San Diego passer. He broke in as an offensive back but switched to defense in 1962.

Bobby Bell and Buck Buchanan each made 10 tackles for the Kansas City defense and both Jerry Mays and Mel Branch had good days. Earl Faison and Ernie Ladd of the Chargers' front line led the rush that threw Len Dawson for 41 yards in losses.

Statistics Give Michigan State Edge Over N.D.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Michigan State at Notre Dame football game Saturday took on added stature today with the release of the weekly major college team defense statistics by the NCAA National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. It pits the team, Michigan State, which leads in rushing defense, against the team that has scored the most in major competition.

The Big Ten champions from East Lansing, Mich., have yielded only 52 yards rushing per game or 1.52 yards per play on 307 enemy rushes. This compares to Notre Dame's rushing gains of 255.3 yards per game.

The Fighting Irish from South Bend are stingy yielding yards against rushes, too, the NCAA statistics show. They are second to the Spartans in rushing defense, yielding 69.5 yards per game.

Michigan State also tops Notre Dame in total defense. The Spartans rank fourth with 187.4 per game to top-ranked Southern Mississippi's 161.2. Notre Dame is eighth with 196.4 yards.

N. Dakota State Top Little '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State has a perfect regular season record, a bowl berth and the No. 1 ranking among the nation's small-college football teams.

No one can take the record or bowl berth away from the Bison, but the ranking could change since the final Associated Press poll will not be taken until after this weekend's games.

This week's poll gave seven first-place votes and 131 points to the Bisons, who concluded their regular schedule last Saturday with a 13-7 victory over St. Thomas for a 10-0 record.

North Dakota State will meet an unnamed opponent in the Pecan Bowl at Abilene, Tex., Dec. 11. Ranked No. 2 this week is Middle Tennessee, which replaced Maine, Maine, which also will play in a bowl — the Tangerine — lost 20-0 to Tampa and dropped to sixth. Middle Tennessee, 9-0, with one game remaining picked up three first-place votes and 107 points.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parenthesis, season records and points on a 10-9-8 etc.

The Stilt Near All-Time Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Come sometime in February Wilt Chamberlain probably will become the all-time career scorer in the National Basketball Association with close to 21,000 points.

The Big Dipper, as the 7-foot-1 former Kansas All-American prefers to be called, became the No. 2 all-time scorer Wednesday night when he tossed in 46 points against the Cincinnati Royals.

There was just one flaw. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

Jerry West also scored 46 points in pacing the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division leaders, to a 125-115 victory over the Boston Celtics in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

Chamberlain got his 46 points on 18 field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. This gave him a career total of 19,263 and he needed only 33 to pass Dolph Schayes career total of 19,249.

Schayes now is Chamberlain's boss as coach of the 76ers. Bob Pettit of St. Louis, who retired after last season, is the NBA's No. 1 career scorer with 20,880. Chamberlain can catch up and pass him by averaging 30 points per game for the remainder of this season. This is well within Chamberlain's capability.

Linger-on-Punch Clay's Newest Secret Weapon

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Cassius Clay says he has a secret punch to throw at Floyd Patterson. He calls it the linger-on punch.

"It don't knock him out," said the heavyweight champion, "it just makes him dizzy and linger on."

"That is until I finish him off."

So it was Wednesday as Clay and the two-time ex-champion point for their 15-round title match Nov. 22 in the Las Vegas Convention Center before an international audience.

Clay was the Clay of old at his latest press conference. He was bombastic, boastful, joking, chiding his sportswriter critics, but not in the grim Cassius—or if you prefer Muhammad Ali—of just a few days ago.

Patterson remained Patterson, dissembled in his training and intent on winning. He was also aware, but seemingly undisturbed that he is a 3-1 underdog.

Each day the fighters, after their workouts, appear on center stage at their respective show-room training sites on the Las Vegas hotel strip. Clay at the Stardust and Patterson across the highway at the Thunderbird. There are microphones and spot lights as in a stage production.

Patterson amended, or sought to, his position on the Black Muslim Society, of which Clay is a member.

"There has been an impression that I am against the whole Black Muslim movement. I am against what they believe in segregation," Patterson said.

"I, like many other Negroes and many white people, believe in integration. I do not know enough about their other beliefs to comment."

"In my opinion, and possibly my opponent, this is just a fight."

Patterson on several occasions has said that he hopes to regain the title "for America and take it away from the organization," he specified he meant the Muslims.

Two Are Injured In Thruway Mishaps

While driving a car south on the State Thruway shortly before 11:30 p. m. Wednesday, Ralph Donnelly, 29, of 144 Hunter Street, was injured when the vehicle left the super highway near mile post 105 about four miles north of Saugerties.

Saugerties Ambulance service took the injured man to Kingston Hospital. An ambulance attendant said Donnelly received head injuries.

Tuesday afternoon at about 4 p. m. the Saugerties ambulance took Harold Lamountain, of 3 Charles Street, Albany, to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, after he was injured when a truck he was driving overturned off the State Thruway near mile post 107 (north). An ambulance attendant said Lamountain complained of back and neck injuries.

The following winners have been selected by the board of directors:

First award $25 to Lynn Demarest of Tillson School.
Second award of $15 to Shelly Sonner of Port Ewen School.

Checks for the winners in the essay contest will be sent to the fire chiefs of the areas and they will be turned over to the principals of the schools for presentation to the winners.

Named as honorary fire chief for the month of December was Shelly Sonner of Port Ewen.

James Hicks of Tillson, chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee, with his committee, was thanked for the success of the contest and discharged from duty after being reminded that Spring Cleanup would again be held next year.

Blackout Duty
Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder of Hurley presented his report for the month and also reported on the participation of the firemen during the blackout last week.

Snyder said all stations had been manned during the blackout and the county Mutual Aid had operated in an admirable manner. There were certain periods of time when due to lack of current, the entire county system had not been fully operative but the firemen stood by at their stations and the coverage had been 100 per cent.

On motion of Henry Ulrich it was voted that the County Association donate $5 to each of the six Ulster county firemen who now reside at the Hudson Firemen's Home as a holiday gift.

Alvin Beatty, reporting for the Legislative Committee, reported that 28 bills pertaining to firemen had been presented at the clearing house meeting and that 24 bills had been approved and four rejected. The 24 bills approved will be forwarded to the legislative committee for action at the next session of the legislature.

One new member was accepted, Edward B. Haines Sr., a member of C. A. Lynch company, Saugerties, was admitted to membership.

The matter of better information being presented to Fire Control headquarters was discussed. This matter was taken up at the meeting of the Fire Chiefs Association recently. It was suggested that a fire company official in charge at a fire, contact fire control headquarters and give all available information to Mutual Aid on where and what the fire was so that this information might be available to the press and radio. This report would be given by Mutual Aid radio.

There will be no meeting of the Association in December and the place for the January meeting will be announced by Secretary Fred C. Harder.

Following the business session a roast beef supper was served buffet style by Edward Secors and his committee.

Thayer, Kirschner Head Appeal Groups for MD

The Commerce and Industry appeal for Muscular Dystrophy Association of America in Ulster County this year is headed by Harry N. Thayer, president of WGHQ and Julius Kirschner, district manager of C and S Trading stamps.

Urging all local business men to support the drive, the co-chairmen said in a recent joint statement, "The fight against dystrophy is everybody's fight. The dollars we pour into research on neuromuscular diseases are an investment in America's future. These conditions impose untold burdens not only upon victims and their families but on society in general."

Tag Day Schedule
John Collins of Saugerties, president of the local chapter lists some important activities of the local MDAA Chapter to show the people that the officers and directors of the local are doing all they can to help support MDAA.

Within the next few days the Kingston Paid Fire Department will sponsor a tag day in Kingston for the benefit of MDAA. Public support of the firemen in their march for muscular dystrophy is urged.

Tickets Available
Collins also informs the public that the first annual benefit dinner for Muscular Dystrophy will be held Dec. 4 at Elmer's Inn in Ruby at 7 p. m. Tickets are now available from Collins, Leo Biegler at Benedictine Hospital, or Kenneth E. Osterhoudt, assistant cashier at Rondout National Bank.

Residents of the area are urged to purchase tickets and attend the first benefit dinner.

Within 10 days the Commerce and Industry appeal will be in the mail and everyone is urged to support the work of muscular dystrophy by returning their contribution as soon as possible. The Ulster County Chapter does have patients with MD and the public help is needed to help these and other children who are afflicted.

Between now and Dec. 10, every area in the City of Kingston and Ulster County should be covered on the annual MD drive and the committee leaders express their appreciation for the anticipated support.

April Start Is Due For Elmira DORMS

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Construction will begin in April at Elmira College on two twin-eight - story dormitory towers that will house 400 students and cost $2.75 million, Dr. J. Ralph Murray, college president, reports.

The project is part of the $8.55-million first phase of a 10-year, $15-million development program approved Saturday by the board of trustees.

Murray made the announcement Wednesday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market fell today, soured by sharp setbacks to copper stocks. Trading was fairly active.

Changes among key stocks were largely fractional but the lower tone marked a first clear pattern after three days of scrambled prices.

The government's decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile to steady copper prices hit leading copper stocks.

Kennecott, nation's No. 1 copper producer, skidded about 4 points. Anaconda was down more than 3 and Phelps-Dodge more than 2. American smelting lost about a point.

The high fliers continued active and mostly higher, despite the generally dampened tone. Fairchild Camera advanced about 3 and Collins Radio gained more than 2 points.

Brunswick, Wednesday's active leader, was up a fraction. Transiron, delayed in opening, dipped fractionally.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.3 at 354.4. Industrials were down 2.7, rails off 4 and utilities down 2. The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon dropped 4.74 to 951.83.

Drug companies were fractionally lower, following a food and drug administration announcement extending health hazard warnings on labels of birth control pills. Merck, Pfizer and Schering all declined and Parke Davis was off fractionally.

Motors were mostly higher. General Motors and Chrysler were up fractions, as was American Motors, despite a $13 million quarter loss and an omitted dividend.

Haney, Kraft . . .

Tex., by distracting him with a handful of gold coins. "I walked through the whole German army in World War II and I wasn't convinced he was all he was trying to be," said Haake, 46, a decorated B-17 pilot.

Shrugs Off Hero Role

"I'm no hero," he said. "I just did what I had to do." Haney was sitting next to Chris Kraft, who directs U. S. astronauts as they circle the globe, when Robinson sat down on the arm of the chair across the aisle.

Robinson dropped a newspaper he had wrapped around a 22-caliber automatic, galvanizing the 91 passengers aboard the Los Angeles to Miami National Airlines Flight 30.

"He pointed it at Chris," Haney said. "It was only six inches off his jaw."

"What have you got there, boy?" Kraft said.

"There was a click which I thought was a cocking action," Haney said. "It did not fire. That's why I thought it was cocking action."

"The kid stood up and backed toward the cockpit door and fired three shots in the floor of the lounge."

Three More Shots

"Then he just stood there for five minutes and then he said: 'I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it.'"

"Then he fired three more shots in the floor," Haake said.

Haake was the only other person in the lounge, Haney said. The husky 6-footer talked to Robinson calmly, pretending to go along with his wild plans about going to Cuba, even though Robinson now had a revolver in the other hand.

"He even fixed him a drink," Haney said.

"Then the kid calmed down and Haake pulled out a plastic holder full of gold coins. He asked the boy if he would like to see them. The kid said he was a coin collector."

"At some point along the way, the kid lowered his hands. I think he was going to reload the gun. When he put his hands together Haake grabbed them."

"Chris and I immediately jumped. He was the first one there. Haake held his hands and I threw him against the seat."

Held on $50,000 Bond—And while Haake held him, both Chris and I helped subdue him.

Robinson, neatly dressed in a grey-green Ivy League suit with a striped tie, was charged "with intent to intimidate the crew and influence the captain to take the plane to Havana, Cuba." At an arraignment in New Orleans, he was held on $50,000 bond.

Dr. Charles Berry, chief physician for the Gemini program who was going with the other officials to check out the spacecraft for Gemini 6 and 7 scheduled in two weeks, said the ordeal was over: "They could have started a pretty good Cuban space program with that plane."

Robinson held in the Orleans Parish jail will be given a preliminary hearing Friday.

Stewardess Nancy Taylor, the first to realize that Robinson might be carrying a gun after he emerged from the restroom with the wadded newspaper, said she tried to get him to put the gun down.

Stalled for Time—"We stalled for time," she said. "We told the passengers what was going on, but without using the loudspeaker so the boy wouldn't know."

One passenger called the 35-year-old Miami resident the "real hero of this story."

The boy's father, William G. Robinson, a Brownsville businessman, said his son had called him at 2 p. m. apparently from the high school and said he would be home soon.

The next he heard was a 6:15 phone call from his son at the New Orleans airport. Robinson said his son did not explain why he had gone to New Orleans, but he sounded upset.

The elder Robinson said he phoned New Orleans police asking them to intercept his son, but they refused to act without a warrant.

No Threat: Kraft—"I felt sorry for the boy," said Kraft, whose title is Gemini flight director. "He didn't threaten anyone."

Charles Mathews, program director for the Gemini flights, said, "He appeared to be a mentally disturbed young fellow. He appeared to be very sick."

Flight 30 had made a stop in Houston before landing at New Orleans.

"I thought at first it was a bird strike," said Capt. Dean Cooper of Hollywood, Fla. "But then I realized we were too high for birds."

The flight engineer looked through an "eye" in the cockpit door and told him what was going on.

"I called Miami (the final destination) and New Orleans and told them we were returning because there was a man with a gun on board. There are a number of vital spots in the plane that could have been hit, but fortunately his shots did not strike any of them."

Haake, a husky six-foot native of Richmond, Va., is manager of the Houston office of Radiation Systems Inc. and commutes between Houston and his company's headquarters in Melbourne, Fla., where he got off the plane.

McNamara said the release plus three other actions affecting the metal had been discussed with leading U. S. copper companies.

He declined to reveal which companies but said: "I think they will fully support this action."

The other government decisions:

1. To control exports of copper and copper scrap "for an indefinite period to conserve domestic supply."

2. To ask Congress to suspend the 1.7-cent-a-pound import duty on copper, a protection McNamara said domestic producers don't need. The Western world used 5.3 million tons of refined copper last year but produced 4.4 million tons. The rest came from scrap.

3. To ask the New York Commodity Exchange to curb excessive speculation in copper trading by raising margin requirements for copper. He said the current margin is about 10 percent, compared to an approximate 70 percent on the New York Exchange.

Ground Is . . .—noted that the two conference rooms will be large enough to be used for conventions and meetings.

"Construction of this addition of 32 units, cocktail lounge and conference rooms," Swickel said, "is necessary to meet the increasing demands of our customers, to provide comfortable accommodations for anticipated increases in business. We sincerely appreciate the cooperation of the business people of the area who have made it possible and necessary for us to expand our facilities."

Swickel added, "We have great faith in the future of Kingston, and will continue to expand our facilities and service to provide the best for the increasing number of customers and new friends we are hopeful of making through our service at the motor lodge restaurant."

The Howard Johnson Motor Lodge presently employs 21 persons, all area residents. During the summer months the employees number 100 or more for the restaurant and lodge.

Swickel anticipated that future popular demand by the public will make it necessary to plan for additional expansion of the lodge units and other facilities.

north. The relief force found American dead lying beside dead enemy troops and the wounded screaming in fear and pain.

The battalion was ambushed as it marched from the tiny helicopter landing zone three miles away where two air cavalry battalions had beaten back wave after wave of enemy attacks since Sunday. An estimated 1,500 enemy troops are in the area, 220 miles northeast of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

In advance of a B-52 bombing attack on Communist positions on Chu Phou Mountain, the two battalions had pulled out of their position at the foot of the mountain. Helicopters flew one battalion to an artillery base about three miles to the southeast. The other battalion hiked north.

"We were walking along at the center of the battalion and we started getting fired on all of a sudden," said a survivor of the ambush, Staff Sgt. Miguel Sese of Augusta, Ga.

"It was coming from everywhere—the ground, the trees. Suddenly, everyone around me was getting hit and dying."

"I could hear screams all around me, all over the place. We fought and fought for what seemed hours. But it was no good."

"I told what was left of my men, and there weren't many, to pull back if they could."

"I told them they had a 50-50 chance of getting out."

"We started crawling away under terribly intense fire. We crawled 250 yards, then started running. I never ran so fast before."

"We had to leave most of the wounded people behind, there was nothing else for it. But we tried to help some of them by crawling with them."

"The ones we left behind were screaming in pain and fear. Someone shouted out, 'Don't leave me!', a lieutenant called out, 'Please shoot me. Please shoot me, I don't want them to get me.'"

"Oh, God, it was horrible," said Pfc. David Weed of Pittsford, Maine. "Boys were crying. We had to leave them. Some were screaming."

When the Communists opened up with mortars and small arms, the battalion radioed for reinforcements. The other battalion began a forced march and reached the ambush scene at nightfall.

The wake of battle left bodies in piles of 15 and 20. Some Americans died with their hands frozen in rifle-holding positions. But the rifles were gone, taken by the Communist troops to use against other Americans.

Most of the North Vietnamese were well-armed and wore neat khaki uniforms, survivors said. In the pre-dawn Viet Cong attack at Tan Hiep, a U. S. adviser said the Vietnamese Rangers defending the base put up "a hell of a good fight" against repeated assaults between mortar and recoilless-rifle barrages.

It was not yet clear whether the Viet Cong completely overran the base. Helicopters were not permitted to land because of the danger of unexploded charges remaining on the field.

Viet Cong squads penetrated the base during the two-hour attack and hurled demolition charges to destroy the five spotter planes in sandbagged revetments. Six trucks were also destroyed.

U. S. jets plastered suspected Viet Cong escape routes with napalm and bombs.

power for Danskammer.

A study has been undertaken to determine the feasibility of installing on-site auxiliary generation to provide the startup power requirements at Danskammer during an emergency.

The company also reported that a joint study is being conducted by Central Hudson and three other utilities in New York and New Jersey to evaluate the advantages of increasing the voltage on a transmission line between Central Hudson and New Jersey Power and Light Corporation. A new transmission interconnection with New York State Electric and Gas also is being considered to provide additional capacity to the interconnected companies.

Central Hudson also noted that Unit No. 4 at Danskammer is placed in service in the spring of 1967 that the company will have generating capability of about 139,000 kilowatts in excess of its load requirements. In addition, the company has acquired power plant sites for long-range future development.

Sillin said, "These sites are geographically so located and of such potential that they may be attractive for future development to supply regional as well as local power requirements."

At least $5,000 should go into savings as a reserve against contingencies. With any balance remaining, I would buy American Cyanamid, American Electric Power, and General Foods, all of which are growing stocks which should help your children's education.

Q) "We own General Motors, Dow Chemical and Great A.P. We are both 60-years-old and would like to know what to do with Dow and A.P." H. G.

A) You own three very strong stocks. Dow Chemical has been improving earnings in recent years, but the shares sell well below their best levels of 1959-61. If you are dissatisfied with this stock because of market action, I see no reason to continue to hold it.

You might switch to American Hospital Supply, which offers better prospects for capital enhancement. A.P. has sold down because of a decline in earnings over the past two years. There is a good return here, but if better action is what you want, switch to Eastman Kodak.

SPACE PROBLEM—Accommodating ever-longer runways isn't the only space problem faced by modern air terminals. There's also the matter of adequate parking areas for ground transportation. This view of San Francisco's international airport shows outdoor areas which now handle 1,400 vehicles. A giant new multilevel garage next to the terminal is adding another 2,700 parking places.

Farm and City Workers Enjoy Same Benefits

George J. Habermig, district manager: Kingston Social Security Office stated that ten years ago the first Farm-City Week was declared by a Presidential Proclamation. Issued, "so that those who work on the farms and those who work in the cities develop greater understanding of their mutual problems and interdependence in a closely knit economy."

Habermig stated that the basic idea here is not to give city youngsters a chance to see what a cow looks like, or farm children a chance to see the inside of a factory. Children often get these experiences as they go to school.

Farm-City Week shows not how farm and city people are alike—how they share common goals.

At the Kingston social security office, Habermig said, we can see every day how close these two groups are.

The farm and city worker enjoy exactly the same protection under the social security program. The families are both protected from loss of income through retirement disability, or death, and soon by health insurance for people 65 and over.

And although most retirement plans are based on age 65, both men and women who have to stop work earlier because of unemployment, ill health, or other reasons may now receive reduced retirement benefits between age 62 and 65.

Habermig stated that an important change made in the law this year is the addition of a program of health insurance for people 65 and over to the existing program of retirement, survivors, and disability insurance.

Nearly everyone now 65 and over, or who will reach this age in the next few years, will be eligible for paid-up hospital insurance when this program goes into effect next July, even if they cannot receive social security benefits. In years to come every one who receives social security benefits will automatically have hospital insurance at 65.

He further stated that another part of the health insurance program is voluntary medical insurance. People will have this protection at 65, when it goes into effect next July, only if they sign up for it and agree to pay a premium. The $6 a month premium will be shared half-and-half by those enrolled and the Federal Government.

Hospital insurance will help pay costs of hospital and related care, while medical insurance will help pay physician fees and certain other medical costs.

People who are 65 or over before 1966 will have medical insurance protection when the program starts only if they sign up by March 31, 1966.

Habermig stated that occasionally we hear this question: "Are there separate social security programs for farmers and urban people? The answer is no."

Social security benefits are related to a working person's earnings, regardless of whether he is working in a city job or business, or on a farm.

The social security office, located at 57 Albany Ave., has free booklets describing the ben-

France Transferred To Veterans Hospital

Clarence France, 52, Town of Saugerties, who suffered burns in a car fire last Saturday night, was transferred today by Doctors Ambulance from Kingston Hospital to the Veterans Hospital in Albany.

France was discovered apparently asleep in a car near the home of his brother, Irving George France, 40, of Box 77, Saugerties. When troopers went to investigate the car fire they found Irving dead on a couch in his home.

A verdict of death due to natural causes was later given by Coroner Henry S. Hartley, who said Irving died of hepatic failure.

He further stated that another part of the health insurance program is voluntary medical insurance. People will have this protection at 65, when it goes into effect next July, only if they sign up for it and agree to pay a premium. The $6 a month premium will be shared half-and-half by those enrolled and the Federal Government.
